AMERICAN CAPSULES MEET IN SPACE

School Heads Look Closely At All New Building Details

Circleville's Board of Education plans to "give taxpayers their money's worth" relative to the new high school scheduled to open next fall.

An example of the care being taken by school heads concerning every detail of the new building was apparent at last night's regular monthly meeting. Members and Superintendent Fritz Jacobs spent hours in an effort to select a proper front curtain for the new auditorium.

Ray Janson of Janson Industries, Canton, was present to discuss the investment. He had several samples of material as well as color guides. Superintendent Jacobs had met with Janson for about two hours prior to the meeting.

After 90 minutes of sorting through samples, a decision was tabled until the next meeting. The board could not agree on a single pattern, plain color or fabric.

TWO MEMBERS wanted to install a contemporary patterned curtain. The remainder of the board, along with Jacobs, thought a more conservative solid color would be appropriate.

The administrators, however, did approve advertising for bids for the lighting system at the new football field for Dec. 17, 24, 31, Jan. 7 and 14. A bid opening session has been slated for noon of Jan. 17. Completion date for the project has been scheduled for July 15, 1966.

Upon the recommendation of the superintendent, the board decided that bleachers now being used on the north and south sides of the present football field be moved to the new site. Additional facilities to seat approximately 600 people will be purchased for the new athletic field.

The board's agenda contained two other items dealing with the selection of colors at the new building. One

School Closing Due to Snow Facing Stiffer Regulations

"Through wind, rain, sleet and snow." This old unwritten law of the postal field is to be applied to school attendance, according to recent legislation and opinions of the State Department of Education.

Members of the Circleville Board of Education last night were informed that days of instruction lost for snow or ice storms, except in rare instances, would have to be made up later in the school year.

Recent legislation has increased required days of instruction as applied to participation in funds distributed under the School Foundation Program.

Dr. E. E. Holt, superintendent of public instruction for the State Department of Education informed the local board of opinions written by Attorney General William B. Saxbe. Dr. Holt posed two frequently asked questions, one of which involved the closing of school due to ice and snow, or similar causes.

THE STATE head noted that a board of education may close a school due to road conditions, but the 180-day requirement of the law still must be met. "Even in the event of a calamity, school must be open for instruction and with pupils in attendance not less than 175 days," he stated.

Circleville school board members discussed the topic at length last night. The decision whether school would be open in the event of heavy snow or ice was delegated to Superintendent Fritz Jacobs.

Mrs. Rosemary Mader, board member, seemed concerned with the operation of school buses during snowfall and freezing weather. But other members assured her that "the school bus is one of the safest vehicles on the road."

Superintendent Jacobs pointed out that students and parents and some teachers become anxious about school closing every time it snows. There have been times when classes were halted due to a couple of inches of snow, Jacobs said, adding that a good percentage of students were seen playing outside, sledding and in more "amusement" than they would be if they boarded a bus and went to school.

The 1965-66 school calendar was revised earlier this school year when legislation was enacted increasing the number of days of instruction. In view of the new outlook, the board indicated snowfall would have to nearly reach "calamity" stages before Circleville schools would close.

Cassius Clay Arrested in Police Fuss

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay has been charged with disorderly conduct stemming from an argument with police about whether his car should be curbed.

Clay, 22, was in the car with three other men when police stopped it on a South Side street Tuesday. Police said the vehicle did not have license plates or a city tax sticker.

As the car was curbed, Omar Bey, 22, of Miami, Fla., shouted: "You can't stop this car. Cassius Clay is in here."

When the four got out of the car, Clay said: "You can't arrest me. I represent another government."

"What government?" asked policeman Thomas Faragoi.

"The Negro government," Clay replied. "I'm a $50-million-a-year man and you're nothing but a policeman. The only reason you arrested us is because we are Negro."

At the station, Clay and Bey were charged with disorderly conduct and released on $25 bond each.

The driver, Johnny Cage, 47, of Chicago was charged with driving without license plates and a city sticker and with a revoked driver's license.

Housewife Battles State and Wins

BOSTON (AP) — Theresa Fancy, a determined housewife, took on a Massachusetts state agency and won. As a result she won't have to pay a $200 parking bill.

Actually, she was awarded $1 token damages for her trouble over the bill, presented to her when her car was located in a state parking garage 73 days after it had been stolen.

She said today that at one point she was ready to throw up her hands and "let the parking authority keep the car if they wanted to and try to forget the whole thing."

When she first went to pick up the car at the Boston Common underground garage, she said, the Massachusetts Parking Authority told her she owed $182.50 — and that the fee was mounting at a rate of $2.50 a day.

She said she had paid only $400 for the car last summer. It was stolen two days later.

"Finally it was found. When I went to get it I knew I'd have to pay a few dollars but when they told me — wow! That was half what I'd paid for it."

The Automobile Legal Association provided free counsel to get the car back. By then the bill had gone up to $200.

Parking authority chairman Samuel Valenti said the matter would be "fought to the end."

The final, head-on collision with Mrs. Fancy occurred Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Judge Joseph Riley dismissed the authority's claim, saying there was no evidence that it was Mrs. Fancy who had left the car at the garage.

"I have no hard feelings," Mrs. Fancy said. "Life is too short, and besides this is the Christmas season."

Big Red Viet Power Plant Is Destroyed

Major Electrical Center Is Near Haiphong Port

PARIS (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today Red China may have a small stockpile of nuclear weapons in two years and hopes to have a ballistic missile to deliver them.

McNamara told ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the European members of the alliance should plan now to meet a Chinese Communist threat to their own security within five years.

He said the Chinese Reds were determined to become a major nuclear power.

By 1975, he predicted, the Chinese Communists probably would not only have developed but also deployed intercontinental ballistic missiles. Such missiles presumably could reach target all the way from San Francisco to Berlin and cities in between.

McNamara spoke on the second day of a NATO ministerial meeting. He spoke behind closed doors. His statement was relayed to newsmen by an American spokesman.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk appealed to U.S. allies Tuesday to send doctors and engineers to South Viet Nam but did not ask for troops.

McNamara stressed that grave as was the threat of Red China's growing might, the United States was going to stand firm behind its commitments to defend Western Europe from possible Communist aggression.

The United States government does not intend to redeploy major American combat units from Western Europe to Southeast Asia, he said.

McNamara said the West should find political and economic means to divert the Chinese Reds from the path of aggression. Such measures could have no hope of success unless the Western alliance maintained a military force strong enough to insure its own security.

This is why the United States does not intend to allow the American commitment in Viet Nam to affect significantly the readiness of American forces committed to NATO, he added.

He said the Chinese Communists now maintain the world's largest land army amounting to 2,300,000 battle-ready men plus militia and paramilitary organizations.

Peking's air force is estimated at 1,500 planes.

McNamara repeated Rusk's statement that the Chinese Communists are blocking a settlement in South Viet Nam.

Sources quoted him as saying there was danger that the Chinese Communists would set up bases for guerrilla warfare in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

His remarks reinforced Rusk's argument that the U.S. war effort in South Viet Nam should receive stronger support from NATO.

Christmas Spirit Trimmed In Castro's New Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — "Why won't Santa Claus come this year, Mommy? Has he forgotten us?"

"It's not that he's forgotten us, Alfredo, but, you see, Santa Claus is an American and Fidel won't let him in the country."

Thus did a young Cuban mother answer her 5-year-old son asking why he would not receive gifts on Christmas.

Though Jan. 6, the Day of the Three Kings, is the traditional time for gift-giving in Latin-American countries, Cuban children along with other Latins have been accustomed to receiving toys from Santa Claus on Christmas, too.

This year there will be a few toys, and possibly a limited supply of the Cubans' favorite Christmas time dish, roast pork, but the emphasis is on "year-end fiestas."

Santa Claus is connected with "Yankee imperialism," therefore no longer mentioned. Most children will receive their toys only from the reyes, the three kings, Jan. 6.

Even that holiday is being phased out. Some children receive their toys immediately after their parents buy them anytime during December or early January. Many mothers, however, have had a difficult time in explaining to their offspring the difference in the celebration of Christmas since communism took over in Cuba.

Once nativity scenes, Christmas trees and religious activities were common. Now smiling Santa Claus and religious adornment are absent from downtown streets and stores. Christmas carols sung in soft Cuban Spanish no longer fill the air.

But the spirit of giving and receiving is evidently too strong for Communist leaders to abolish. But they've regulated it, along with almost everything else in daily life.

U.S. To Lend Back Cash Paid by India

NEW DELHI (AP)—The United States agreed today to lend India $73.5 million worth of the rupees India paid for American surplus foods.

Some of the money will go to the Industrial Development Bank of India to refinance loans given by other banks for industrial development.

The rest will go the Investment Corp. of India which assists private firms in planning and executing projects.

A TITAN-IC JOB — Workmen check the base of Gemini 6 Titan II rocket at Cape Kennedy in an effort to meet a deadline for a launch and rendezvous with orbiting Gemini 7.

Gemini Capsules Flying Together

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 6 and 7 astronauts conducted the world's first rendezvous in space today — a momentous space feat and one of man's greatest adventures.

The successful in-flight formation of the two craft, slightly more than 100 feet apart, pushed the United States past a major milestone on the road to the moon.

Word of the spine-tingling feat came in a calm voice from astronaut Thomas P. Stafford aboard Gemini 6.

"We're at 120 feet and sitting," he reported.

The historic moment took place about 185 miles above the Philippine Islands as the two space chariots, each with two astronauts aboard, zipped along nose to nose at more than 17,500 miles an hour.

At the moment of Stafford's announcement, the 40-man team in the mission control center in Houston, stood up, smiled and waved American flags.

With Stafford aboard Gemini 6 was astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Manning Gemini 7 were astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr., who earlier this afternoon completed the 11th of their planned 14 days in orbit.

Gemini 6 had started its chase into space this morning.

The spine-tingling safari started with the thundering blastoff of a 90-foot Titan 2 rocket that soared skyward exactly on schedule at 8:37 a.m. (EST).

At 10:12 a.m. (EST), near the end of the first revolution, Schirra made his first move toward a meeting of the sister ships. A blast from his jet thrusters adjusted the high point of his orbit and placed him 17 miles below Gemini 7 and 690 miles behind.

Gemini 7 entered its 163rd orbit at 10:12 a.m. (EST).

Only a few minutes after the perfect launch, Schirra and Stafford got a go-ahead from confident mission directors on the ground for a fourth-orbit rendezvous.

An elated Schirra responded: "You've got a big fat go from us!"

Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, who had been flying in the comfort of their cotton underwear, were instructed to get back into their space suits for the completion of the rendezvous.

Borman and Lovell were about 185 miles high, some 200 miles south of the Cape, when the Titan blasted into the skies.

"We didn't get to see the lift-off," Lovell called, "but we saw them coming through the clouds."

Six minutes later, when mission control announced that Gemini 6 had achieved its orbit, Gemini 7 had streaked 1,200 miles ahead and the chase was on — featuring a record cast of four U.S. astronauts.

Borman and Lovell were nearing the end of the 11th of their 14 planned days in space.

The Titan, which was frustrated the last-second in an attempt to get off the pad last Sunday, performed perfectly today and, as it rose into the sky, flight director Christopher Kraft told Schirra and Stafford by radio:

"You're right down the line, Gemini 6."

At the moment of insertion into orbit, Kraft told them: "You are go."

When Gemini 7 was informed that Gemini 6 was on its way for a visit, Borman replied: "Wonderful!"

Mission Control reported Gemini 6 was in an orbit ranging from 101 to 165 miles high, almost precisely what was sought and well within the required limits for the rendezvous.

Gemini 7 is in an orbit ranging from 183 to 188 miles. With command pilot Schirra controlling the Gemini 6 spacecraft and Stafford operating the direction-giving computer and the tracking radar, Gemini 6 was to move gradually into the same orbit with the target craft and catch it.

For six hours, they are to fly in formation, practicing various maneuvers that are vital to man-to-the-moon flights.

A perfect flight would bring Schirra and Stafford back to

Probers Seek More Light On Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional inquiry opens today to try to shed more light on the Big Blackout.

But the investigation of the cause and effects of the last month's great power failure in the Northeast probably will lead into the high-voltage field of federal regulation of electric power and how far it should go.

This controversy "was coming to a head," said Rep. Walter E. Rogers, D-Tex., chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Subcommittee which is making the inquiry. "The blackout brought it to public attention."

Rogers said he hopes that in addition to "nailing down the basic reason" for the massive power failure—and some other relatively minor blackouts — the inquiry will get "to the bedrock" of U.S. power policy.

"Congress is going to have to decide what the electrical energy policy for the whole country should be," he added.

This would get into the myriad technical, legal and rate-making problems involved in state versus federal regulations and the highly sophisticated interlocking electrical power network.

Joseph C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, was scheduled as the first witness.

20 Relatives Fly To Viet Wounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 20 persons have been flown to Viet Nam by the Defense Department this year to help speed recovery of their sons and husbands wounded in fighting and hospitalized there.

The Pentagon said Tuesday that regulations provide when an attending physician and the commander of a medical facility believe the relative's presence "will contribute to the recovery of a seriously ill patient" the overseas command may ask that the relative be provided transportation—if military conditions permit.

British Cops Recover $98,000 in Theft Loot

The robbers took 41,063 pounds ($114,982) that was on its way to workers at a plant making small arms.

The second of the two proposals concerned color of floor tile to be used in the new building. There was no problem this time.

After a recommendation by Jacobs, a darker colored floor tile was accepted. The decision was prompted by difficulties encountered with light colored covering in other new buildings.

20 Relatives Fly To Viet Wounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 20 persons have been flown to Viet Nam by the Defense Department this year to help speed recovery of their sons and husbands wounded in fighting and hospitalized there.

The Pentagon said Tuesday that regulations provide when an attending physician and the commander of a medical facility believe the relative's presence "will contribute to the recovery of a seriously ill patient" the overseas command may ask that the relative be provided transportation—if military conditions permit.

British Cops Recover $98,000 In Theft Loot

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Four men were arrested after a scuffle today, and police recovered about 35,000 pounds ($98,000) believed to have been stolen in a payroll robbery here Tuesday.

The robbers took 41,065 pounds ($114,982) that was on its way to workers at a plant making small arms.

Red China Atom Strength Grows

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets blasted a major power plant today 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. It was the first American strike in the Communist foe's industrial heartland in the Red River delta.

Pilots reported that they had hit the heart of the Uong Bi steam power plant and many secondary explosions followed. A U.S. spokesman said the raid knocked out the plant, which he said supplies 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric power and is the primary power source for the Hanoi-Taiphong area.

One plane was shot down but the pilot, Capt. Harry D. De Witt of Moscow, Idaho, was rescued. He suffered a broken leg and facial injuries.

Two other U.S. planes were lost over South Viet Nam. Red gunners hit an Air Force F102 Delta Dagger jet 85 miles south of Saigon as it attacked a Communist concentration. The pilot parachuted and was picked up by a Vietnamese air force helicopter, a spokesman said.

A Navy jet fighter-bomber from the nuclear carrier Enterprise crashed 40 miles west of Can Tho, in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon. The two-man crew was picked up but their condition and the cause of the crash were not known.

Heavy South Vietnamese losses were reported in an outbreak of fighting in southern Quang Ngai Province. Reports said a company of militia was nearly wiped out in an action that began Tuesday.

AFL-CIO Gets Transfusion of Younger Blood

8 Union Chiefs Replaced on Top Planning Council

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some new blood quickened the pulse of the AFL-CIO's top leadership today, raising the organization's hopes for greater success in its drive to recruit millions of new union members and push for broad social legislation.

The election of eight new Executive Council members forebodes no great change in direction for the 13-million-member federation, and the newcomers recognize that George Meany, now 71, is still the boss.

Most top officials agreed however that the replacement of eight retired union presidents will make the AFL-CIO's ruling council more responsive to the rank and file.

The new council members — presidents of unions with a total of more than three million workers — will be able more easily to translate the power of their rank and file into active AFL-CIO policies.

They replaced retired or ousted union presidents who, some federation spokesmen said, had lost touch with daily labor problems.

David Sullivan, 61, president of the Building Service Employees, appeared to sum up the feeling of the new council members when he said they must work harder for union members.

"Otherwise we won't be here next time," said Sullivan.

He said he thought the new council members could contribute most in helping to tackle the problems of organizing workers in a national job pattern shifting rapidly towards white-collar technical workers and small units of service trades employees.

"I hope I can make certain contributions," said Ralph Helstein, 57, Packing House Workers president.

Other union presidents newly elected to the council in addition to Sullivan and Helstein: I. W. Abel, 57, Steelworkers; P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, 61, Machinists; George Burdon, 56, Rubber Workers; Anthony J. Andrade, 62, Printing Pressmen; Paul Jennings, 47, International Union of Electrical Workers; and Tunter P. Wharton, 65, Operating Engineers.

The new members average slightly over 58 years of age, about 9 years younger than the men they replaced.

Art League Has Dinner, Party

The Circleville Art League held its annual Christmas dinner and party at Tink's. Fifteen members and guests attended the affair on Monday.

At the center of the dinner table was a golden tree with two golden angels made by Mrs. Ned Young. Mrs. Clayton Vaughn won the centerpiece as the door prize.

The next meeting of the group is scheduled for Jan. 17, in the home of Mrs. Ned Young.

Farm Bureau Praises Stand By Patton

CHICAGO (AP)—Leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation are giving the "Welcome Aboard" sign to James G. Patton, retiring president of the National Farmers Union, for his recent forecast that big government farm programs are on their way out.

Federation leaders—here for the organization's annual convention—also said they welcomed a statement by Patton, long a militant battler for those programs, that farmers of the future must look to cooperatives to fight for proper prices for their products.

Bureau leaders from President Charles B. Shuman down to state and county delegates attending the four-day convention said history shows that their organization has been trying for many years to get government out of agriculture because they believe farmers would be better off without controls it has imposed on them.

Patton's forecast that farm programs were nearing an end was made in an interview shortly after he announced that he would not accept re-election at his organization's annual meeting in Denver early next year.

He is the oldest of the National Farm Organization presidents in point of service, completing his 25th year as head of the farmers union. He has worked closely over the years with farm leaders in the Democratic Party.

Patton's predictions were based on a belief that Congress would refuse to extend present farm programs because of their cost and also because of a belief that expanding world food needs would make them less essential.

The type of cooperative envisioned by the retiring farmers union leader does not match that espoused by the Farm Bureau.

Patton wants a broad-gauged cooperative system, embracing not only farmers, but consumers, organized labor and government as well. He advocates a setup under which financing would be supplied, in large measure, by the government.

But the Farm Bureau leaders say they want no part of a system taking in outside groups, including the government.

In 1960, the federation organized the American Agricultural Marketing Association to assist state farm bureaus in organizing and setting up farm commodity marketing associations and programs.

Shuman explained that the marketing associations help negotiate prices and contracts with processors and also help farmers shape their production to meet grade and quality demands of buyers, and to cut production costs.

New Executive, Medicare, Finances on Berger Agenda

Progress on acquiring a new superintendent, financial prospects and a discussion on the Medicare program were items on the agenda at last night's monthly meeting of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors.

A committee seeking a replacement for Superintendent Ellen Leist reported 36 applications have been received. Henry Schroeder, chairman of the panel, said this list will be narrowed through continued screening.

Miss Leist resigned last month. She indicated she would remain on the job until the vacancy was filled, or in no event not later than Jan. 1.

Serving with Schroeder on the selection committee are Russell C. Palm and Dr. F. W. Anderson.

A REPORT denoting an increased patient occupancy for last month was accompanied by statistics showing an improved financial outlook for the period. The occupancy for November was listed at 65 per cent, compared to 56.12 for October. Harry Clifton Jr., chairman of the finance committee, said the outlook in this department appears to be the best in several months.

Clifton also reported that copies of Berger's budget for 1966 have been submitted to Circleville City Council and the County Board of Commissioners, along with requests for hospital general fund assistance. Each governing body has been requested to make $10,000 available for operating purposes at the hospital, as provided for by a joint city-county contract with Berger. Clifton, in a letter to both the commission and council, explained that this money will not be drawn on until absolutely necessary. The discussion on Medicare was of a general nature. The governors indicated there is a need for more background information and familiarity with the program which will get under way in mid-1966.

Possible impact and effect on the local level was reviewed. Berger's capabilities in connection with the program also were aired.

THE NOVEMBER statistical report disclosed the average adult daily census was 33.2 patients. The cost per patient day, on an adult basis, was $41.81.

Adult patients served in November numbered 173. There were 32 births.

Other data showed: 394 emergency room visits; 63 inpatient operations; 4 outpatient operations; 377 outpatient visits to lab and x-ray; 59 anesthetics given.

Emergency services for the month listed 265 accident cases treated.

The highest number of patients any one day in November was 49. The lowest was 30.

Red China Atom Strength Grows

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets blasted a major power plant today 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. It was the first American strike in the Communist foe's industrial heartland in the Red River delta.

Pilots reported that they had hit the heart of the Uong Bi steam power plant and many secondary explosions followed. A U.S. spokesman said the raid knocked out the plant, which he said supplies 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric power and is the primary power source for the Hanoi-Taiphong area.

One plane was shot down but the pilot, Capt. Harry D. De Witt of Moscow, Idaho, was rescued. He suffered a broken leg and facial injuries.

Two other U.S. planes were lost over South Viet Nam. Red gunners hit an Air Force F102 Delta Dagger jet 85 miles south of Saigon as it attacked a Communist concentration. The pilot parachuted and was picked up by a Vietnamese air force helicopter, a spokesman said.

A Navy jet fighter-bomber from the nuclear carrier Enterprise crashed 40 miles west of Can Tho, in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon. The two-man crew was picked up but their condition and the cause of the crash were not known.

Heavy South Vietnamese losses were reported in an outbreak of fighting in southern Quang Ngai Province. Reports said a company of militia was nearly wiped out in an action that began Tuesday.

A flight of F105s usually four to six planes, carried out the attack on the power station near Haiphong despite bad weather and heavy anti-aircraft fire, a U.S. spokesman said. The planes, which are capable of twice the speed of sound, unloaded 12 tons bombs shortly before noon.

De Witt's plane was hit by conventional ground fire, rather than by any of the Soviet surface-to-air missiles that are said to be in the Haiphong-Hanoi area. He bailed out over the Gulf of Tonkin and was picked up by a rescue helicopter.

Although the raid was the first announced in the vicinity of Taiphong, a U.S. spokesman noted that North Vietnamese power plants had been hit before.

Since the U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam began last Feb. 7, American planes have avoided strikes against either Hanoi or Haiphong. The spokesman noted that only the power plant was hit and not the industrial center it served. He said the plant had vital military importance since it supplied power at the source of supplies for the Ho Chi Minh Trail leading through Laos to the Viet Cong in the South.

AFL-CIO Gets Transfusion of Younger Blood

8 Union Chiefs Replaced on Top Planning Council

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some new blood quickened the pulse of the AFL-CIO's top leadership today, raising the organization's hopes for greater success in its drive to recruit millions of new union members and push for broad social legislation.

The election of eight new Executive Council members forebodes no great change in direction for the 13-million-member federation, and the newcomers recognize that George Meany, now 71, is still the boss.

Most top officials agreed however that the replacement of eight retired union presidents will make the AFL-CIO's ruling council more responsive to the rank and file.

The new council members — presidents of unions with a total of more than three million workers — will be able more easily to translate the power of their rank and file into active AFL-CIO policies.

They replaced retired or ousted union presidents who, some federation spokesmen said, had lost touch with daily labor problems.

David Sullivan, 61, president of the Building Service Employees, appeared to sum up the feeling of the new council members when he said they must work harder for union members.

"Otherwise we won't be here next time," said Sullivan. He said he thought the new council members could contribute most in helping to tackle the problems of organizing workers in a national job pattern shifting rapidly towards white-collar technical workers and small units of service trades employees.

"I hope I can make certain contributions," said Ralph Helstein, 57, Packing House Workers president.

Other union presidents newly elected to the council in addition to Sullivan and Helstein: I. W. Abel, 57, Steelworkers; P. L. (Roy) Slemiller, 61, Machinists; George Burdon, 56, Rubber Workers; Anthony J. Andrade, 62, Printing Pressmen; Paul Jennings, 47, International Union of Electrical Workers; and Tunter P. Wharton, 65, Operating Engineers.

The new members average slightly over 58 years of age, about 9 years younger than the men they replaced.

Art League Has Dinner, Party

The Circleville Art League held its annual Christmas dinner and party at Tink's. Fifteen members and guests attended the affair on Monday.

At the center of the dinner table was a golden tree with two golden angels made by Mrs. Ned Young. Mrs. Clayton Vaughn won the centerpiece as the door prize.

The next meeting of the group is scheduled for Jan. 17, in the home of Mrs. Ned Young.

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — A total of 262,098 pounds of burley brought $167,485.08 Tuesday at the Ripley Tobacco Market. The average price was $63.90 per hundredweight.

BETHEL, Ohio (AP) — Too much pinball machine playing by school children has led the City Council of this Clermont County community to ban the devices.

Council this week repealed an ordinance under which pinball machines could be licensed. The ban goes into effect Jan. 1.

CINCINNATI (AP) — City Manager William C. Wichman says he is in favor of five-cents-an-hour wage increases for 5,500 municipal employees.

Wichman sent his recommendation to Council Tuesday, adding that larger raises should go to 2,100 employees, including policemen and firemen below the supervisory levels. The recommendations fall short of increases sought by the employees.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A 5-month-old Akron girl, Angela Wims, died Tuesday night, apparently suffocated by a plastic clothing bag left on a bed.

Joanne Wims, 17, said she returned home from night school to find her dead daughter on the bed, where she had been placed by the mother's 9-year-old sister.

Farm Bureau Praises Stand By Patton

CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation are giving the "Welcome Aboard" sign to James G. Patton, retiring president of the National Farmers Union, for his recent forecast that big government farm programs are on their way out.

Federation leaders—here for the organization's annual convention—also said they welcomed a statement by Patton, long a militant battler for those programs, that farmers of the future must look to cooperatives to fight for proper prices for their products.

Bureau leaders from President Charles B. Shuman down to state and county delegates attending the four-day convention said history shows that their organization has been trying for many years to get government out of agriculture because they believe farmers would be better off without controls it has imposed on them.

Patton's forecast that farm programs were nearing an end was made in an interview shortly after he announced that he would not accept re-election at his organization's annual meeting in Denver early next year. He is the oldest of the National Farm Organization presidents in point of service, completing his 25th year as head of the farmers union. He has worked closely over the years with farm leaders in the Democratic Party.

Patton's predictions were based on a belief that Congress would refuse to extend present farm programs because of their cost and also because of a belief that expanding world food needs would make them less essential.

The type of cooperative envisioned by the retiring farmers union leader does not match that espoused by the Farm Bureau.

Patton wants a broad-gauged cooperative system, embracing not only farmers, but consumers, organized labor and government as well. He advocates a setup under which financing would be supplied, in large measure, by the government.

But the Farm Bureau leaders say they want no part of a system taking in outside groups, including the government.

In 1960, the federation organized the American Agricultural Marketing Association to assist state farm bureaus in organizing

New Executive, Medicare, Finances on Berger Agenda

Progress on acquiring a new superintendent, financial prospects and a discussion on the Medicare program were items on the agenda at last night's monthly meeting of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors.

A committee seeking a replacement for Superintendent Ellen Leist reported 36 applications have been received. Henry Schroeder, chairman of the panel, said this list will be narrowed through continued screening.

Miss Leist resigned last month. She indicated she would remain on the job until the vacancy was filled, or in no event not later than Jan. 1.

Serving with Schroeder on the selection committee are Russell C. Palm and Dr. F. W. Anderson.

A REPORT denoting an increased patient occupancy for last month was accompanied by statistics showing an improved financial outlook for the period. The occupancy for November was listed at 65 per cent, compared to 56.12 for October. Harry Clifton Jr., chairman of the finance committee, said the outlook in this department appears to be the best in several months.

Clifton also reported that copies of Berger's budget for 1966 have been submitted to Circleville Council and the County Board of Commissioners, along with requests for hospital general fund assistance.

Each governing body has been requested to make $10,000 available for operating purposes at the hospital, as provided for by a joint city-county contract with Berger. Clifton, in a letter to both the commission and council, explained that this money will not be drawn on until absolutely necessary.

The discussion on Medicare was of a general nature. The governors indicated there is a need for more background information and familiarity with the program which will get under way in mid-1966.

Possible impact and effect on the local level was reviewed. Berger's capabilities in connection with the program also were aired.

THE NOVEMBER statistical report disclosed the average adult daily census was 33.2 patients. The cost per patient day, on an adult basis, was $41.81. Adult patients served in November numbered 173. There were 32 births.

Other data showed: 394 emergency room visits; 63 inpatient operations; 4 outpatient operations; 377 outpatient visits to lab and x-ray; 59 anesthetics given.

Emergency services for the month listed 265 accident cases treated.

The highest number of patients any one day in November was 49. The lowest was 30.

High School Music Groups Slate Program
Circleville High School's vocal music groups will present their annual Christmas Vesper Program at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the high school auditorium.

Selections will be presented by the 62-voice choir under the direction of Truman Eberly, CHS music director. Featured numbers will also be presented by the Girls' Triple Trio and the Boys' Ensemble.

The program will include traditional American carols, foreign Christmas hymns, religious and popular songs of the season.

The event is a highlight of the Christmas season at CHS and open to the public. Admission is free.

Politics of Poverty

CHICAGO, Ill. — A column-ist making occasional forays into different sections of the country is inevitably impressed by local grumbling about the way the anti-poverty program is being administered. An idealistic housewife in the suburban reaches of Cook County here in Illinois complains about "endless talks" with her $14,000-a-year boss in the County Office of Economic Opportunity—and quits her own $10,000 - a - year job as "co-ordinator" in protest against being choked by red tape. A federal Congressman from the nearby Rockford area says it is scandalous that proposed Christmas holiday traveling allowances for youths in job camps vastly exceed any holiday fare money allotted to men in the armed services.

The impact of the local complaints is almost certainly bound to disturb President Johnson's hopes for easy control of Congress next year, and there will be an inevitable spill - over into the 1966 elections. Seeking to make hay with a promising issue, some of the House Republicans — Representatives Charles Goodell of New York is one, and Albert Quie of Minnesota is another — have already aligned themselves with "the poor" against the "urban machines." Since the city governments which want to keep control of their own local anti-poverty programs are heavily Democratic, it can be argued that it is good partisan Republican national politics to "fight city hall" on the issue of "who spends what money where."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, having taken the rise in interest rates in stride, now is concentrating on the next big cliffhanger — the federal budget.

The political battle over the Federal Reserve Board's hiking its interest charges puts the uncertainties veiling the budget even more in the spotlight. How higher interest rates and the new budget will live together is erty program. Not only are the Democratic mayors threatened in their home bailiwicks. The mayors are also needed by Lyndon Johnson in his 1966 battle to get his House supporters reelected.

With LBJ indicating his stance by lining up on the side of Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago in the fight against "dual" administration of educational funds, Vice President Hubert Humphrey has already forced Sargent Shriver, boss of the national poverty program, to back up a bit in the matter of letting the poor run their own show. But the question has by no means been banished from the politics of 1966. Shriver, though he is a Kennedy brother - in - law, must go along with Johnson and Humphrey in order to keep his job. But Senator Bobby Kennedy is not bound by Shriver's commitments. There could be a Democratic line of cleavage in the Senate over the program's administration. And in the House of Representatives, Adam Clayton Powell's own anti - poverty subcommittee could very well be both judge and jury in any investigation of what is being done with poverty funds.

Meanwhile, whether the battle is won by city hall or by a "dual government" set up in behalf of the poor, the original idea of encouraging poor people in the ways of self - help is being pretty well forgotten. What is needed is for Congress to take an entirely new look at the whole anti - poverty program.

many individual corporations — and the price of their stocks — as well as the trend of the economy in general in a period which many see as touchy and critical.

That the government will be spending more next year is taken for granted. The tantalizing questions just now are what, if any, civilian programs may be curtailed, or postponed because of the increased costs of the military efforts in Southeast Asia. Just how the larger defense spending will show up in orders for various industries, and individual corporations, will be awaited impatiently in Wall Street.

The stock market seems to have accepted the Federal Reserve Board's contention that increased interest rates won't reverse the upward trend of business and consume spending, only hold it in moderate limits.

But Wall Street doesn't write off the political effects of the Fed's difference of opinion with the White House over the need for a monetary check rein on the business expansion now.

Nor does it escape notice that the Federal Reserve Board itself was closely split on the decision to raise rates. Minority members are on record as believing that the increase should work on what shape the federal budget would finally take.

President Johnson can appoint a new member to the board next month. And he could name an easy money man more attuned to the President's own views to succeed a conservative member whose term of office is expiring.

BLITZ BROTHERS by SARKEN

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH... By LESTER L. COLMAN, M.D.

Is a stroke different from a paralysis of the arms or legs? A stroke is the result of some interference with the supply of blood to the brain. Arteries carry blood. Blood carries oxygen, the vital nourishment, to the brain.

An artery can be narrowed by severe arteriosclerosis. An artery can be the site of a hemorrhage. An artery can develop a clot. An artery can become narrowed by a spasm.

Each of these conditions interferes with the open channel of the artery that transports blood from the heart to the brain.

Any of these conditions are called strokes.

Paralysis may sometimes follow a stroke. This depends on the exact part of the brain that is deprived of its oxygen supply during a stroke, and the extent of the brain area that is involved.

Modern treatment, when begun early, has been remarkably effective in reducing the severity of strokes. The new science of rehabilitation is a co-operative effort between doctor and patient.

SOMETHING TO CONSIDER

Q. Is it harmful for a person to "put off" going to the bathroom to urinate?

A. Probably not, for males. For females it might definitely be harmful. The reason is that the female urethra (tube leading from the bladder) is short. Unless it is promptly flushed out by urination, opportunity is afforded for bacteria to get up into the bladder and cause infection. This may be less likely to occur when the urge to urinate is not ignored.

"FEMININE HYGIENE"

Q. Is daily douching desirable?

A. Ads in women's magazines notwithstanding, doctors contend that the healthy vagina does not require frequent mechanical ("internal") cleansing.

Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Things Unwanted at Christmas

NEW YORK (AP) — There are a lot of things right about Christmas.

Such as:

The cheerful sounds and bright colors, the fun of decorating the tree and putting the holly wreath on the door, the reunion with loved ones, the holiness of its mystic meaning, the steaming joys of a full table, kissing under the mistletoe, the great expectations about what presents you will get.

Twelve truckers hauling honey from Clarksburg, W. Va., to Columbus were dinner guests at the American Hotel Hurricane and the shipment of honey was believed one of the largest to travel through here in a long while.

E. W. Seeds, Ashville, purchased dog license No. 1 as licenses were placed on sale at the county auditor's office.

Local employees of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. entertained several of the city's underprivileged children at a Christmas party in the local gas company office.

Politics of Poverty

CHICAGO, Ill. — A columnist making occasional forays into different sections of the country is inevitably impressed by local grumbling about the way the anti-poverty program is being administered. An idealistic housewife in the suburban reaches of Cook County here in Illinois complains about "endless talks" with her $14,000-a-year boss in the County Office of Economic Opportunity—and quits her own $10,000 - a - year job as "co-ordinator" in protest against being choked by red tape. A federal Congressman from the nearby Rockford area says it is scandalous that proposed Christmas holiday traveling allowances for youths in job camps vastly exceed any holiday fare money allotted to men in the armed services.

The impact of the local complaints is almost certainly bound to disturb President Johnson's hopes for easy control of Congress next year, and there will be an inevitable spill-over into the 1966 elections. Seeking to make hay with a promising issue, some of the House Republicans — Representatives Charles Goodell of New York is one, and Albert Quie of Minnesota is another — have already aligned themselves with "the poor" against the "urban machines." Since the city governments which want to keep control or their own local anti-poverty programs are heavily Democratic, it can be argued that it is good partisan Republican national politics to "fight city hall" on the issue of "who spends what money where."

The deeper implications of the struggle to let "the poor" control the placement of anti-poverty funds are nonetheless a bit ominous. The whole proposition smacks of "dual government." We have heard of "dual government" before: it was what Lenin managed to establish in pre-Bolshevik Russia when he created the "soviets in the factories of Petrograd (as it was then) to serve as a political force paralleling the legitimate government of the Constituent Assembly. In time, the soviets displaced the democratically chosen representatives of the Russian people, with calamitous results to the whole world.

The U. S. government is not likely to be overthrown on a federal level by a revolution growing out of dual government in the cities. Nevertheless the fabric of urban representative government could be badly damaged by the pull and-haul that is shaping up for the administration of the anti-poverty program. It is not inconceivable that Mayor-elect John Lindsay of New York will find himself disastrously embroiled with U.S. Representative Adam Clayton Powell over the issue of control of poverty alleviation in Harlem.

In this case it would be Democrat Powell who would be the proponent of "dual government." Elsewhere it could be the Republicans. On balance, it is the urban Democrats who must be the more vociferous in opposing dual government in the administration of the poverty program. Not only are the Democratic mayors threatened in their home bailiwicks. The mayors are also needed by Lyndon Johnson in his 1966 battle to get his House supporters reelected.

With LBJ indicating his stance by lining up on the side of Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago in the fight against "dual" administration of educational funds, Vice President Hubert Humphrey has already forced Sargent Shriver, boss of the national poverty program, to back up a bit in the matter of letting the poor run their own show. But the question has by no means been banished from the politics of 1966. Shriver, though he is a Kennedy brother - in - law, must go along with Johnson and Humphrey in order to keep his job. But Senator Bobby Kennedy is not bound by Shriver's commitments. There could be a Democratic line of cleavage in the Senate over the program's administration. And in the House of Representatives, Adam Clayton Powell's own anti-poverty subcommittee could very well be both judge and jury in any investigation of what is being done with poverty funds.

Meanwhile, whether the battle is won by city hall or by a "dual government" set up in behalf of the poor, the original idea of encouraging poor people in the ways of self-help is being pretty well forgotten. What is needed is for Congress to take an entirely new look at the whole anti-poverty program.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, having taken the rise in interest rates in stride, now is concentrating on the next big cliffhanger — the federal budget.

The political battle over the Federal Reserve Board's hiking its interest charges puts the uncertainties veiling the budget even more in the spotlight. How higher interest rates and the new budget will live together is a moot question. The debate will get hotter.

But the biggest current question in the eyes of stock traders is how the budget, when unveiled next month, will divide federal spending between Viet Nam war needs and the many programs to carry on the march toward the "Great Society."

And the stock market would like to know the answers — ahead of time, if possible. The allocation of funds could affect many individual corporations — and the price of their stocks — as well as the trend of the economy in general in a period which many see as touchy and critical.

That the government will be spending more next year is taken for granted. The tantalizing questions just now are what, if any, civilian programs may be curtailed, or postponed because of the increased costs of the military efforts in Southeast Asia. Just how the larger defense spending will show up in orders for various industries, and individual corporations, will be awaited impatiently in Wall Street.

The stock market seems to have accepted the Federal Reserve Board's contention that increased interest rates won't reverse the upward trend of business and consume spending, only hold it in moderate limits.

But Wall Street doesn't write off the political effects of the Fed's difference of opinion with the White House over the need for a monetary check rein on the business expansion now.

Nor does it escape notice that the Federal Reserve Board itself was closely split on the decision to raise rates. Minority members are on record as believing that the increase should work on what shape the federal budget would finally take.

President Johnson can appoint a new member to the board next month. And he could name an easy money man more attuned to the President's own views to succeed a conservative member whose term of office is expiring.

More than 12 per cent of those enrolled at the University of Paris are "ghost students", ones who don't study or attend classes, but enroll to get special privileges — cheap meals, transportation, etc., complains that school's dean of science. A pretty shady trick!

A "ghost student" is, of course, just a fancy new name for that old fashioned pest, the hokey player.

The university's enrollment is listed at 120,000. That's a fantastic figure even if an eighth of it is purely imaginary.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLMAN, M.D.

Is a stroke different from a paralysis of the arms or legs? A stroke is the result of some interference with the supply of blood to the brain. Arteries carry blood. Blood carries oxygen, the vital nourishment, to the brain.

An artery can be narrowed by severe arteriosclerosis. An artery can be the site of a hemorrhage. An artery can develop a clot. An artery can become narrowed by a spasm.

Each of these conditions interferes with the open channel of the artery that transports blood from the heart to the brain.

Any of these conditions are called strokes.

Paralysis may sometimes follow a stroke. This depends on the exact part of the brain that is deprived of its oxygen supply during a stroke, and the extent of the brain area that is involved.

Modern treatment, when begun early, has been remarkably effective in reducing the severity of strokes. The new science of rehabilitation is a cooperative effort between doctor and patient.

With muscle re-education, exercise and ingenious devices, the victims of a stroke can, in many instances, be taught to take their rightful places as serviceable human beings in their communities.

What ever happened to the machines that were to make all injections completely painless?

There are a number of complicated machines that are being used to "blast" medicines beneath the skin without needles. The advantages are not great enough to warrant general use. Children dislike them just as much as they do injections by old-fashioned needles.

Some doctors are using a preparation which, when sprayed on the skin, freezes it and makes the injection hardly felt. Even this method has not made injections the favorite indoor sport of children.

Disposable needles are made in tiny sizes, so small and delicate that they still remain the method of choice for the doctor.

For the child there is no choice other than proper preparation by the parents. When the child is told the truth and the reason for the injection the discomfort is more acceptable, even though it is not palatable.

Things Unwanted at Christmas

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — There are a lot of things right about Christmas.

Such as:

The cheerful sounds and bright colors, the fun of decorating the tree and putting the holly wreath on the door, the reunion with loved ones, the holiness of its mystic meaning, the steaming joys of a full table, the great expectations about what presents you will get.

Yes, there are many, many things right about Christmas but there's one thing wrong about it.

That is, getting as presents

Looking Back In Pickaway County

A quintet from the St. Paul EUB Church entertained patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Woodward, Route 3, entertained with a dinner honoring their daughter, Jennifer, on her eighth birthday.

exactly the things you don't want.

A fellow can survive the fact he doesn't find his heart's desire wrapped up under the tree on Christmas morning. He can put up with being surprised by unexpected gifts he has no real need for. But what really rubs his spirit raw is to untie half a mile of ribbons and unwind two acres of paper—and find there in something 'hat is precisely what he did not desire, or actively dislikes.

"The trouble with Christmas," he groans in self-pity, "is that it is overcommercialized."

But actually, it is largely his own fault. Many of us are too shy or bashful to tell Santa Claus what we want. It is too much like begging.

There is nothing wrong, however, in writing Santa a letter such as this:

"I don't care what you bring me, just so you don't bring me something that makes me blow my top. Here is a list of things I particularly have no desire for, and if you bring me any of them, I warn you I will put a booby trap in my chimney to blow you up next Christmas Eve."

Any such list of unwanted presents is purely personal, of course. Here is the cranky list of don't you dare bring me things I sent to Santa Claus:

Mufflers with fringes on them. I can always use another muffler or two, even though I have 37. But I can't stand them with fringes.

No bicycles, tricycles, scooters, wagons, hobby horses or doll houses that come unassembled in crates. If Santa Claus can't understand the directions on how to put them together, neither can I.

Wallets covered with mink fur, mink bow ties, a mink ham-mock.

Cigarette lighters adorned with glass encased nude nymphs who shimmy when the flame is lit.

Any fruit cake or country ham, baked in a Brooklyn basement by a defrocked Chinese chef, but mailed from "May Yancey's old fashioned, hand-tended hickory hearth in Corn-corn, Tenn."

Any other gift which, after keeping hidden in a drawer for 12 months, I don't have the courage to rewrap and send to someone else next year.

SOMETHING TO CONSIDER

Q. Is it harmful for a person to "put off" going to the bathroom to urinate?

A. Probably not, for males. For females it might definitely be harmful. The reason is that the female urethra (tube leading from the bladder) is short. Unless it is promptly flushed out by urination, opportunity is afforded for bacteria to get up into the bladder and cause infection. This may be less likely to occur when the urge to urinate is not ignored.

"FEMININE HYGIENE"

Q. Is daily douching desirable?

A. Ads in women's magazines notwithstanding, doctors contend that the healthy vagina does not require frequent mechanical ("internal") cleansing.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Mr. D reaches Santa just as he is opening the magic mirror left by the Voodoo man. Santa does not look in the mirror, but the Fabulous Dunklebum does and is turned to stone.

CHAPTER NINE A SAD STORY

Mr. D snatched the mirror from Santa's hands, took it to the fireplace and smashed it into a thousand pieces.

But it was too late to save the Fabulous Dunklebum. The creature's lights had gone out and he had turned to stone.

"What is it?" cried Santa. "What has happened?"

"It was the Voodoo man's mirror," said Mr. D. "He has already cast a spell over the whole of Santa Land. If you had looked into the mirror you, too, would have turned to stone."

"The VOODOO man!" exclaimed Santa, turning pale.

"He's a wicked, wicked man in a long black cloak!" blurted out the little boy.

"I know him well. Oh, surely he hasn't been here!"

"Come and see!"

They left the house and Santa ran through all the shops. He saw what they said was true. A terrible curse had been laid on Santa Land. Every elf and every reindeer had turned to stone.

Santa walked up and down. He twisted his hands and shook his head. All the good cheer had left his face.

"How could a city bus get to Santa Land?" asked Santa.

"Why did he do it?" cried the little boy. "Why would anyone want to do such a thing?"

"Because he is the Voodoo man. Long ago he swore to destroy Santa Land and all the creatures in it. He hated Christmas, and all other days when people make merry. He wanted to rid the world of all the good spirits and then he himself would rule the land."

"But I never feared him because he didn't really have much power. Moreover a friendly witch told me that the Voodoo man could never get to Santa Land unless he came on a city bus driven by a cross-eyed man. That was impossible, of course. How could a city bus get to Santa Land? But the witch was wrong, and the Voodoo man came some other way."

Mr. D's hands flew to his face. The crocodile and the donkey and the little boy stared at him in dismay.

"The witch was right," stammered the little boy.

"He came on a city bus," whispered the crocodile.

"With a cross-eyed man," moaned the donkey.

Mr. D took his hands down from his face and Santa looked into his eyes and saw for the first time that they were crossed.

"But — the bus? Where is it?"

Where did you come from? How did you get here?"

Mr. D told him the bus was behind the hill at the end of the road. Then he told Santa how he had driven the bus up and down Main Street all his life until he couldn't stand it any more. He just had to find out what was in the world beyond Main Street. So he put a sign saying "ZABBAZARA" on the side of the bus and drove out of town.

He picked up the crocodile and the donkey and the little boy because they were lonely and homeless and wanted to go too, though they didn't know where Zabbazara was or even if there was such a place. Then he picked them up the Voodoo man, who tricked them into driving to Santa Land.

"It's a sad story," finished Mr. D. "I never should have left Main Street."

But Santa's face had brightened. "Zabbazara," he murmured. "Zabbazara! How did you know about Zabbazara?"

"It — it's just a place I made up."

"Those are the best places!" exclaimed Santa. "And Zabbazara is the best place of all. Come — we'll go to Zabbazara. I think it is there we will find the charm to break the spell of the Voodoo man!"

Ohio Dems OK Central Finance Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democrats are taking a page from the political manual of Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss as they prepare for 1966 campaigns.

The state Democratic party is setting up a unified, permanent finance committee — very similar to the fund-raising system instituted by Bliss when he took over as GOP chairman in Ohio.

What the Democrats hope to do is establish a statewide committee to raise money for Democratic campaigns at all levels.

It would be "A United Appeal type of fund-raising," said State Democratic Chairman William Coleman, instead of the separate campaigns for money which party workers and candidates have conducted previously.

Coleman named Robert Reid, Port Clinton newspaper publisher and radio station owner, to head the finance committee. Both said they have not discussed details yet. And, Coleman still has not named other members of the committee.

Coleman said a show of hands at a meeting of Democratic county chairmen and other party leaders Saturday was unanimous in favor of the central finance setup.

Guild No. 6 Holds Annual Dinner Party

Thirteen members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 6 met at Tink's Tavern for their annual Christmas dinner party. Mrs. Jeanine Doering, chairman, conducted a short business meeting preceding dinner.

Plans were completed for giving food baskets to two needy families for Christmas. Roll call and payment of dues was conducted. Mrs. Howard Pryor was winner of the traveling prize.

Mrs. Pryor gave each member a listing of the names of each family member so that personal gifts could be purchased for the children. It was decided to distribute the baskets and gifts on Dec. 23 and members were asked to have all contributions to Mrs. Ben Temple at the Savings Bank no later than Dec. 22.

A gift exchange was held. Mrs. Ben Temple invited the group to her home for the next meeting.

Nurses Assn. Meet Scheduled Tuesday

The Christmas meeting of the Pickaway County Registered and Graduate Nurses Assn. will be held 8 p. m. Tuesday in the guild room of Berger Hospital.

Mrs. Russell Smith and her committee will be hostesses.

The program will be presented by "The Curtain Callers" of Circleville High School.

Council of Church Women Reports on Clothing Center

The Circleville Council of Church Women met Monday in the First EUB Service Center. Mrs. David Whaley presided.

Mrs. M. D. Lorentz, reported that the Clothing Center in the Veteran apartment building, W. High St., has given out more than 2,000 items of children's clothing and 3,000 items of adult clothing since the new operation began in June. Approximately 112 families or individuals have been referred and in this number there were 400 children, some from the rural areas of the county. Several families were also helped after fires had destroyed all their possessions.

The Clothing Center is open for distribution on the first Wednesday of each month from 1 to 3 p. m. Clothing and household articles are in constant demand and children's clothing, books and toys are particularly needed.

Articles may be taken to any of the cooperating churches, or call Mrs. M. D. Lorentz, GR 4-9064, Mrs. Harry Stanton, GR 4-4463, or Mrs. Frank Moore, GR 4-3824. The cooperating churches are: St. Phillips, St. Joseph's, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist, First EUB, Calvary EUB, Church of the Brethren, First Baptist, and Second Baptist.

The next meeting will be held 8 p. m. Jan. 10 at the Church of the Brethren, corner Logan and Pickaway Sts. All city and county churches are invited to send representatives.

Other items on the agenda were the distribution of Christmas decorations to the needy. This will be done from 1 to 3 p. m. Saturday in the lobby of the Masonic Temple, S. Court St. Anyone having any Christmas decorations they do not need any more (nothing electrical), may bring them to the Masonic Temple between 11:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. Saturday.

Plans were also formulated for the annual World Day of Prayer service to be held 2 p. m. Feb. 25 in the First Baptist Church. All churches are invited to participate.

Tuesday Meeting Scheduled by DAR

Daughters of the American Revolution will meet 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the First EUB Service Center, 310 E. Main St.

Prior to the meeting a dessert course will be served by Mrs. Donald Watt and the co-hostesses.

The program, "Christmas Music" and a travelogue, "The Holy Land" will be presented by the Rev. John Morgan, pastor of the Ashville EUB Church.

Members are reminded to bring used nylon hose for Baccane College.

St. Paul Sunday School Class Meets

The Senior Adult Sunday School of St. Paul Church, Washington Twp., met for a carry-in dinner and Christmas Party Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Route 4.

A gift exchange was held and plans were made to remember the shut-ins of the class.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Loring Leist, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Miss Nellie Bolemier, Dan Bowman, M. M. Bowman, the Rev. and Mrs. Maurice Bailey and daughter, Darlene, and the hosts.

Variety Sewing Club Plans Yule Party

Britain Set For Its First Pay-TV Deal

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first pay-television system will begin operation Jan. 7 showing mainly feature films and sports events such as a prerecorded wrestling program from Chicago.

"An evening with the Royal Ballet," starring Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, also is scheduled.

Pay-television will start initially in the London boroughs of Westminster and Southwark with 2,000 to 3,000 subscribers. By late summer, Pay-TV, Ltd., hopes to have 10,000. Its chairman, Lord Brabourne, said the is a sound basis for a pay-television system in Britain since it has the biggest television relay system by wire outside the Soviet Union.

More than 100,000 homes in London are connected to television relay services and wires carrying the programs run near 500,000 homes. In the country as a whole more than a million homes receive television by relay services.

Subscribers will have a small gray box into which they will insert two-shilling coins — 28 cents. A feature film will cost six shillings.

Dear Abby: But Where's the Lesson?

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter about the kids who stole goodies from the refrigerator and it reminded me of my own problem. We have ten kids between the ages of two and thirteen and they are always helping themselves to goodies from the refrigerator and cupboards. No matter where I hide things, they always find them. These kids get plenty of treats. I pop popcorn and make candy every Sunday night and I bake twice a week, but they steal stuff anyway. They also rummage around in my drawers. I don't even have a pair of matching earrings any more. We solved the food-snitching problem, though. We keep everything locked up in the fruit cellar and I wear the key around my neck. We can't afford to feed ten kids three good meals a day and let them eat whatever they want all day.

YANKIMA MOM
DEAR MOM: You may save a lot of food by locking it up, but you're overlooking something far more valuable — The character of your children. They should be taught early that there is a mine and thine, and they must either obey their parents or take the consequences. Children who are not disciplined by their parents will never learn to discipline themselves. With the privilege of having children goes the responsibility of training them.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that it is not proper for a widow to send Christmas cards or gifts the year of her husband's death. Is this true? What about answering friends from afar who haven't heard the sad news and send their Christmas cards addressed to "MR. AND MRS."? I hate to dampen their Christmas spirit with my unhappy news. Demonstration on Holiday Arrangements Presented

Mrs. Bernard Savy presented a demonstration on Christmas arrangements during the annual holiday party held by the Soliqua Garden Club in the home of Mrs. W. H. Barch. Mrs. Glen Rinehart and Miss Gladys Vause were co-hostesses.

Using various materials found around the home and garden, Mrs. Savy created wreaths, swags, and table arrangements.

Mrs. E. R. Brooks gave the devotions before dinner. Christmas decorations were used throughout the home.

Mrs. Savy, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. Charles Huston gave a report on the Pickaway County Garden Club Council held in Circleville. Mrs. Henry Hansen reported on the Christmas baskets to be given to two worthy families in the community. The special project prize was given to Mrs. Huston. Apples and nut bread were auctioned by the ways and means committee.

Mrs. Everett Peters conducted the program. Mrs. Brooks Campbell read a poem, "Christmas Greetings." The minutes of the 1954 Christmas Party were read by Mrs. Barch and she also showed an auron she had made and worn in 1914.

Mrs. Rinehart discussed the care of garden tools before storage and protection of evergreens and shrubs during the winter months.

Mrs. Mildred Messick, a guest, judged the wrapped gifts and awarded prizes to the following: Mrs. James Hott, first; Mrs. Hansen, second; Mrs. Frank Grice, third; Mrs. C. W. Hedges, fourth. A gift exchange was held.

Other guests were Miss Ethel Creager and Mrs. John Hedges.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 in the home of Mrs. Jennie Russell with Mrs. James Hott and Mrs. Charles Tates as hostesses.

Children confuse new holiday Jumping-Jacks with their regular Christmas presents. Maybe that's our fault.

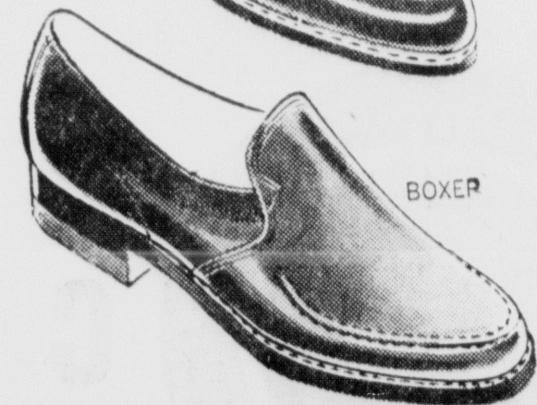

It happens all the time. Especially to girls. You get her new Jumping Jacks so she'll look her prettiest for holiday parties and visits. But as soon as she puts them on, she starts thinking of them as Christmas presents! Blame us—it wouldn't happen if we didn't keep a full stock of fancy, feminine, fun-to-wear girls' Jumping Jacks. Of course, we also have a complete line of Jumping Jacks for boys, in both school and dress-up styles. Come in and see all our Jumping Jacks. Merry Christmas!

Dear Abby:

But Where's the Lesson?

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter about the kids who stole goodies from the refrigerator and it reminded me of my own problem. We have ten kids between the ages of two and thirteen and they are always helping themselves to goodies from the refrigerator and cupboards. No matter where I hide things, they always find them. These kids get plenty of treats. I pop popcorn and make candy every Sunday night and I bake twice a week, but they steal stuff anyway. They also rummage around in my drawers. I don't even have a pair of matching earrings any more. We solved the food-snitching problem, though. We keep everything locked up in the fruit cellar and I wear the key around my neck. We can't afford to feed ten kids three good meals a day and let them eat whatever they want all day.

YANKIMA MOM
DEAR MOM: You may save a lot of food by locking it up, but you're overlooking something far more valuable — The character of your children. They should be taught early that there is a mine and thine, and they must either obey their parents or take the consequences. Children who are not disciplined by their parents will never learn to discipline themselves. With the privilege of having children goes the responsibility of training them.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that it is not proper for a widow to send Christmas cards or gifts the year of her husband's death. Is this true? What about answering friends from afar who haven't heard the sad news and send their Christmas cards addressed to "MR. AND MRS."? I hate to dampen their Christmas spirit with my unhappy news. Any help you can give me will be deeply appreciated.

RECENTLY WIDOWED
DEAR WIDOWED: Unless the grief is still too fresh for you to attempt to resume normal living, send Christmas greetings as usual. One must go on living. After the Christmas season has passed, write those friends who obviously were not aware of your husband's death and tell them.

DEAR ABBY: If this didn't actually happen to me, I'd never have believed it. I was laid off work for almost two months and needed a job desperately. I heard of an opening in my line of work (I am capable and knew all I needed was a chance, but I didn't have enough time put in at one place to land that job.) Well, I got a friend of mine to write false references, and I got the job. I am doing very well, and this is my fourth week there, but another problem has come up. This "friend" told me that I have to pay her $5 a week, or she will write an anonymous letter to my boss revealing that my references were false. I know this is blackmail, but this job minus $5 a week is better than nothing. What should I do?

BLACKMAILED
DEAR BLACKMAILED: Tell your boss the truth and don't waste any time. If he fires you, he fires you. Then inform your "friend" that her little scheme won't work. And in the future, don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

17 Attend
Emmett Chapel
WSCS Meet

Emmett Chapel WSCS met in the home of Mrs. Wells Wilson with Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. Frank Graves assisting hostesses. There were 17 members present.

Mrs. Ellen Harmount led the devotionals, reading poems pertaining to Christmas. She also read an article "And Lo The Star." A prayer followed.

The WSCS is preparing food baskets for the needy at Christmas. Everyone is asked to bring their canned goods to the church Dec. 19 when the Christmas program will be conducted. Members are selling cashew turtles.

Mrs. Foster Jenne closed the meeting with a prayer. Mrs. Janet Wilson read "The Gift of The Magi." Christmas carols were sung and a gift exchange was held.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Safety Double Check
Delays Cruise Ship

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sailings of cruiseship Yarmouth, sister ship of the Yarmouth Castle, have been canceled so safety equipment can be double checked.

The Yarmouth Castle, which sank off the Bahamas Nov. 13 with the loss of 90 lives, carried 377 passengers on the voyage. Yarmouth Cruise Lines said the Yarmouth will resume twice weekly cruises to the Bahamas Dec. 20.

Demonstration on Holiday Arrangements Presented

Mrs. Bernard Savy presented a demonstration on Christmas arrangements during the annual holiday party held by the Soliqua Garden Club in the home of Mrs. W. H. Barch. Mrs. Glen Rinehart and Miss Gladys Vause were co-hostesses.

Using various materials found around the home and garden, Mrs. Savy created wreaths, swags, and table arrangements.

Mrs. E. R. Brooks gave the devotions before dinner. Christmas decorations were used throughout the home.

Mrs. Savy, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. Charles Huston gave a report on the Pickaway County Garden Club Council held in Circleville. Mrs. Henry Hansen reported on the Christmas baskets to be given to two worthy families in the community. The special project prize was given to Mrs. Huston. Apples and nut bread were auctioned by the ways and means committee.

Mrs. Everett Peters conducted the program. Mrs. Brooks Campbell read a poem, "Christmas Greetings." The minutes of the 1954 Christmas Party were read by Mrs. Barch and she also showed an apron she had made and worn in 1914.

Mrs. Rinehart discussed the care of garden tools before storage and protection of evergreens and shrubs during the winter months.

Mrs. Mildred Messick, a guest, judged the wrapped gifts and awarded prizes to the following: Mrs. James Hott, first; Mrs. Hansen, second; Mrs. Frank Grice, third; Mrs. C. W. Hedges, fourth. A gift exchange was held.

Other guests were Miss Ethel Creager and Mrs. John Hedges.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 in the home of Mrs. Jennie Russell with Mrs. James Hott and Mrs. Charles Tates as hostesses.

Fireworks Factory Is Labeled Dangerous

CINCINNATI (AP) — A suburban fireworks factory where an employee was killed in an explosion Dec. 4 does not meet safety and zoning regulations, an official reports says. H. A. Kahler, assistant Hamilton County building inspector, said in the report that the Tri-State Manufacturing Co. in Loveland was too close to other houses, was not surrounded by a fence and did not have suitable fire protection. Loveland authorities say five persons have been killed in explosions at Tri-State since 1947.

3-Foot Alligator Is Found along River

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (AP) — Noel Thacker went rabbit hunting Tuesday but stumbled onto some unlikely wildlife—a sluggish, three-foot alligator floating along the Ohio River. Thacker took it home but when the gator warmed up it was too strong to handle. Thacker figures the alligator which he put outside to cool off, was brought from Florida as a pet and escaped or was set free.

Pickaway Grange Report

SALT CREEK VALLEY
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fisher of Scioto Valley Grange were program guests at the Dec. 7 meeting of Salt Creek Valley Grange which was opened in ritualistic form with the worthy master Russell Miller in charge.

Paul Dunkle, youth chairman, announced these appointments for his committee: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Judy, Carol DeLong, and Mrs. Carl Dean. He listed the several activities through which youth could aid membership.

In appreciation of services rendered, a contribution was made to the County Youth Installation Team.

Gift packages were brought for patients at Veteran's Hospital, Chillicothe.

Initial plans were made for cooperation with a dinner to be served at Grange Hall in January.

Mrs. Wayne Luckart, home economics chairman, announced that pecans and walnuts were for sale.

"Ago and Ahead" was the theme for the program as arranged by the worthy lecturer, Paul Dunkle. In explanation he stated that memories of tomorrow are dependent on results of today.

The beginning number was "Onward, Worthy Grangers," a song by all.

As a roll call response, there was a narrated demonstration of self-designed decorations for Christmas.

Mrs. Fisher, one of the 215 delegates at the recent State meeting at Toledo, in October, gave many details of the session. She told that Ohio, with its 103,177 members in 847 subordinate Granges, was the strongest Grange State.

For the concluding friendship circle, "Now The Day is Over," was sung.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Justice, and Larry Justice.

At the next meeting, Dec. 21, starting at 7:30 p. m., a Christmas program will be presented. There will be a gift exchange. Each member is to bring pop corn and candy.

COUNTY YOUTH
The annual Pickaway Grange Youth Christmas Party was held at the home of Barbara and Beverly McKenzie.

The meeting was preceded by a carry-in dinner beginning at 7 p. m.

Presiding over the session was Paul Dunkle, vice president of the organization, in the absence of president David Shephard.

Barbara McKenzie, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting, followed by the financial report by Wilma Judy and Don DeLong.

Reports on the card party and banquet served by the youth were given by various members.

A motion was passed by members to send a donation to the Ohio State Grange Youth Fund.

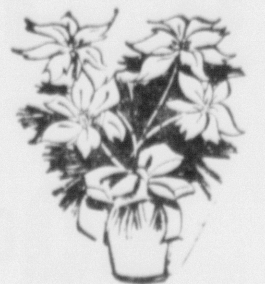

The Young Grangers all voted in favor of sponsoring a ritualistic team to be entered in the state contest in April.

All members are to report at the next meeting on possibilities for entries in the talent contest in June. If there are enough entries, a county elimination is to be held in April or May.

The vice president appointed a committee of Joyce Boldzer, Wilma Judy and Fern Lutz to find a one-act play for the youth to use in an act coming contest.

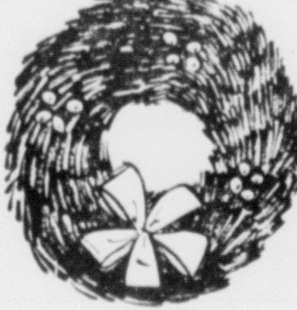

A special Grange conference is scheduled at Teays Valley High School Jan. 18, 1966.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Lutz, 7 p. m. Jan. 3.

Academy Award Critics Starting To Form Lists

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A hot race for top actor, a less spirited one for actress — that's the shape of the race for the 1965 Oscars as contention nears the end.

To qualify for an Academy Award, a film must play in the Los Angeles area for at least a week. Hence the movie companies are jamming the local theaters this week and next. Eyes are bloodshot as critics try to cover the releases.

Since not all of the contenders have been shown yet — "Doctor Zhivago" is still in the cutting rooms — an accurate analysis of the hopefuls cannot be made. But a survey of probabilities indicates it will be a man's year.

Academy voters may suffer an embarrassment of riches in trying to narrow best-actor nominees to five. At least four stars are being pushed for double performances: Sidney Poitier for "A Patch of Blue" and "The Slender Thread"; James Stewart for "Shenandoah" and "The Flight of the Phoenix"; and Oskar Werner for "Ship of Fools" and "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold"; Lee Marvin for "Ship of Fools" and "Cat Ballou." As of now, Werner seems to be the front runner for "Ship of Fools."

Laurence Olivier's "Othello" will doubtless be a strong contender, as will Omar Sharif's "Doctor Zhivago." Others with chances are Jason Robards, "A Thousand Clowns"; Richard Widmark, "The Bedford Incident"; Jack Lemmon, "The Great Race"; Terence Stamp, "The Collector"; Max Von Sydow, "The Greatest Story Ever Told"; George Segal, "King Rat"; and Michael Caine, "The Ipcress File."

And now the ladies. Such past winners as Julie Andrews, "The Sound of Music"; Simone Signoret, "Ship of Fools"; Vivien Leigh, "Ship of Fools"; and Anne Bancroft, "The Slender Thread," are among the most promising.

The Academy often favors newcomers. Hence the nod may well be given to Samantha Eggar, "The Collector"; Elizabeth Hartman, "A Patch of Blue"; Patricia Gozzi, "Rapture"; or Julie Christie, "Darling."

Gemini 6 Crew Set for Flight

Twice before, Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford have squeezed into their cramped capsule only to have their space shot thwarted.

On Oct. 25, they were to have caught and linked up with an Agena satellite. The Agena engine exploded in flight and the Gemini 6 launching was scrubbed when the countdown stood at 42 minutes.

The space agency then came up with the idea of Gemini 6 chasing after Gemini 7.

A highly motivated crew worked around the clock to prepare Gemini 6 for launching in a record eight days after Gemini 7 was launched. Normally 29 days are required.

The crew's efforts culminated in a perfect countdown last Sunday.

The Titan 2 first-stage engines ignited. Then shut down.

The rocket and the astronauts remained locked firmly on the pad in a cloud of rust-colored smoke.

An automatic malfunction detection system sensed that an electrical plug had fallen prematurely from the base of the rocket.

Titan 2 remains bolted on the pad for 3.6 seconds after engine ignition to give the detection system a chance to determine if anything is wrong and if thrust is achieved. The shutdown occurred at 1.17 seconds.

Investigation showed the launching would have been blocked one second later even if the plug had not fallen out. The system would have noted that a small dust cover, worth two cents, had been carelessly left in a fuel line leading to a gas generator in one of the first-stage engines.

The dust cover was placed in the line last July at the Martin Co. plant in Baltimore, where the Titan 2 was assembled. Two inspectors had signed checklists that the cover had been removed.

An investigation is continuing. The presence of the dust cover would have prevented a launching of Gemini 6 on Oct. 25 even if the Agena had reached orbit.

Schirra's cool thinking saved the Gemini 7-6 mission Sunday. Under such shutdown conditions, the astronauts were on the verge of triggering ejection seats to escape a potentially explosive rocket.

But Schirra, upon whose judgment the ejection decision rested, noted the rocket had not lifted from the pad and that pressures were falling in the fuel lines. This told him in a split-second that the condition was safe and the pilots remained with the rocket.

Had they ejected, the interior of the capsule would have been so badly damaged by the blast of the ejection that there would have been no chance to reschedule the flight while Gemini 7 was still aloft.

The space agency has not pinpointed the reason for the early fallout of the electrical plug, but it may have been installed improperly.

To prepare for the historic rendezvous, Borman and Lovell conserved fuel Tuesday in case it is needed to aid in the planned approach.

The hunter craft, Gemini 6, has more than 600 pounds of fuel available for the pursuit and will do practically all the 3 maneuvering. Gemini 7 has allotted only 10 to 15 pounds for its role.

Borman and Lovell reported their beards were becoming itchy after their long stay in space, but that otherwise everything was fine.

"We've started to itch a little — getting kinda crummy," Borman reported Tuesday. "The days seem to be lengthening a little."

They watched a rocket sled run at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., and the re-entry of a dummy warhead hurled from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., by a Minuteman missile.

The Soviet Union twice has had two cosmonauts in space in separate spacecraft, but they were unable to rendezvous because the Soviets have not yet demonstrated they have a maneuverable spacecraft.

Schirra emphasized the importance of the rendezvous maneuver when he said in a recent interview:

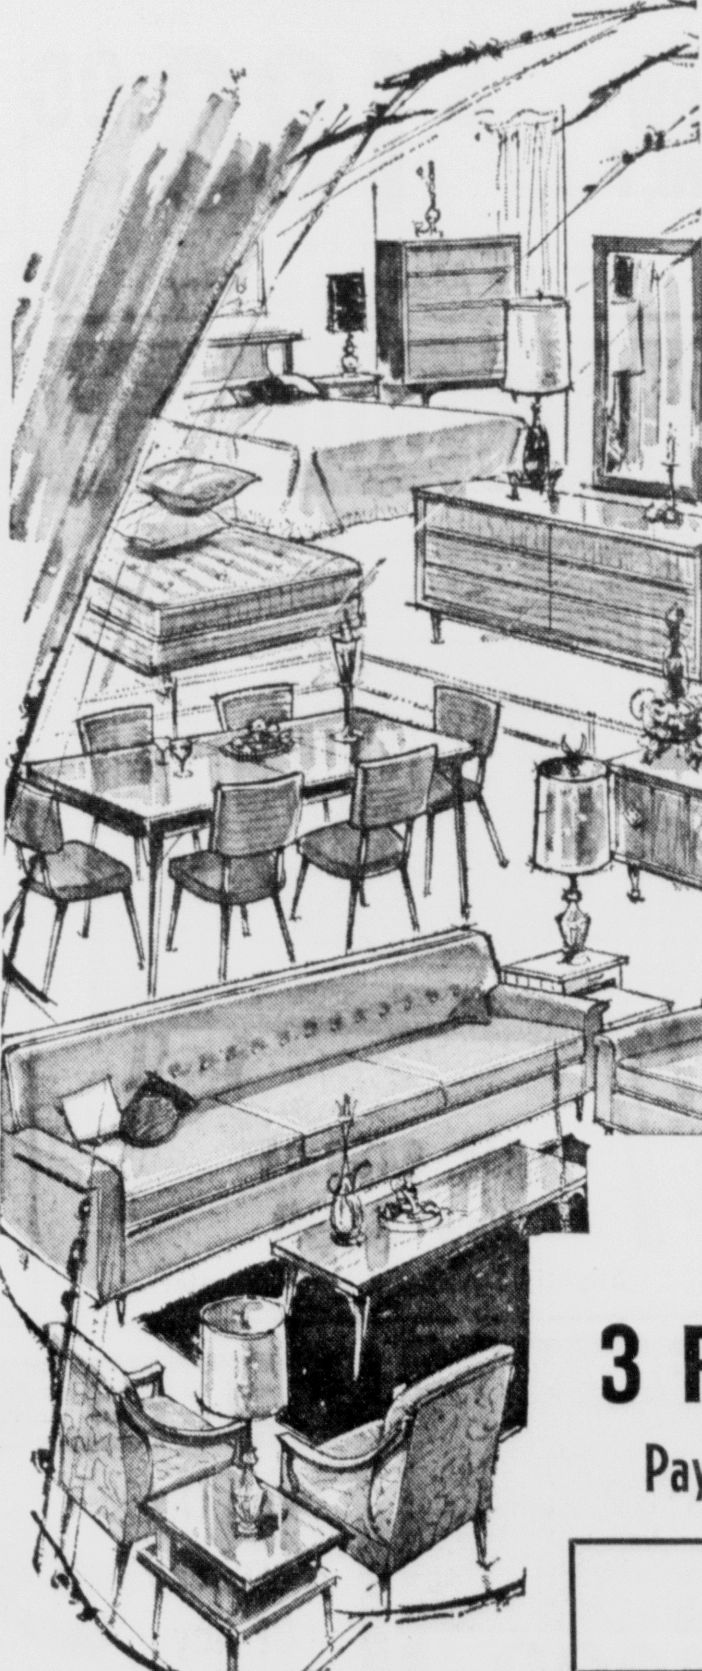

"We're stalled on the moon shot if we don't achieve rendezvous."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friendship in the modern world is like cats on a tin roof, which is hardly a quiet way to spend an evening.

The United States has been friends with Pakistan, whose President Mohammed Ayub Khan is here talking to President Johnson, and with India, whose Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is coming here in February to talk to Johnson.

They want to get out of the box they got themselves into with their undeclared war over Kashmir in the fall.

Pakistan, thinking the odds are on its side, wants the people of Kashmir to decide in a vote whether they want to be part of Pakistan or India. India, which doesn't like the odds, wants no part of a vote.

If Johnson can settle this dispute, he's a miracle man, but he's not supposed to settle it since the United Nations hopes to. Over the years the United States has given India and Pakistan over $10 billion in aid.

At first it gave military aid to Pakistan, which built up its army, and thus was a kind of buffer to the ambitions of Red China. India, playing lofty and neutralist, didn't pay so much attention to arms.

Then the Red Chinese attacked India, which then cried for American arms, and got them. But when India and Pakistan began to fight both blamed the United States for arming the other.

The United States shut off aid to both. Pakistani mobs ripped the American flag, attacked U.S. buildings, and Pakistan began cottoning up to the Red Chinese.

But those two good old friends, the Soviet Union and Red China, got into the India-Pakistan act, with Red China blaming the Soviets for helping India while the Russian's criticized China for butting in on Pakistan's side.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was to leave London today to come talk to Johnson about some problems, like how to get U.S. support for an oil embargo against Rhodesia which just left the Commonwealth.

Next week West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is coming to talk to Johnson. While Britain and Germany are economic rivals, the British and the United States want German help in keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organization together.

Right now it's getting a battering from French President Charles de Gaulle who doesn't want Germany to have nuclear arms, although the two countries consider themselves friends, while France builds a nuclear arsenal.

Tuesday at a NATO meeting in Paris the French and German foreign ministers got into an argument over it. But De Gaulle, running for re-election, manages to keep busy in many directions.

Interviewed on television in his political campaign, De Gaulle criticized the United States Tuesday for becoming an "interventionist power," quarreled with its policy in Vietnam and declared, "I am not anti-American."

He said this country and France had been friends more than a century, that France would always come to America's aid, and that while America came to the aid of France in two world wars it was a little late.

State May Acquire 1,700-Acre Swamp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A swamp and marshland owned privately and used for biology studies by Kent State University students may become a state wildlife preserve. State Parks Chief Melvin J. Rehbock says his division and the Wildlife Division will ask the Controlling Board for $1 million to buy the 1,700-acre area at Tinker Creek near Aurora, southeast of Cleveland.

Animals tend to eat more when they have company, biologists say. A chicken that has already stuffed itself will start eating again if placed with one that is feeding.

Cincinnati's Double Life Is Revealed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "I'm lost. Don't know what to do," said a 37-year-old truck driver from Ohio who police say deserted his family in Michigan eight years ago.

Robert R. White, a father of three from Mount Healthy, Ohio, spoke from his jail cell Tuesday.

Police said fingerprints showed White was Maurice Mallion Jr., who disappeared from his home in Willis, Mich., eight years ago, leaving his wife and four children.

"They tell me I'm Mallion. It's undoubtedly true. They have my fingerprints. But if it is,

I'm in a hell of a mess," White said.

U.S. GI in Germany Granted Citizenship

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Spec. 5 Salvatore Raai has received a Christmas present he's been waiting for five years — U.S. citizenship.

Raai took a 10-day furlough from his Army post in Germany, flew from Frankfurt at his own expense, and was sworn in by U.S. Dist. Judge Edward T. Cignoux, Raai, 23, was born in Naples, Italy. He came to Portland five years ago.

He will meet Mrs. Mallion Thursday when he appears for a court hearing.

"I haven't visited him because there just isn't anything for me to say to him," said Mrs. Mallion at her home outside of Ypsilanti.

Saturday White was arrested in Hamilton County, Ohio, on a hit - and - run charge. He was working as a driver-salesman for a food company in Evendale, a Cincinnati suburb.

He met his present wife—a native of Cincinnati—in 1958. Later they moved to Cincinnati.

2 Lieutenant Governors Head Insurance Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Investors Heritage Life Insurance of Ohio — with Ohio's Lt. Gov. John W. Brown as president and Kentucky Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield as board chairman — has been licensed to do business in Ohio.

The Ohio Insurance Department confirmed this Tuesday after word got out ahead of the announcement Brown said he planned after Jan. 1 that the firm was being organized.

France's great western peninsula of Brittany was settled from the 5th to 7th centuries by British Celts. They gave it a name meaning "Little Britain."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friendship in the modern world is like cats on a tin roof, which is hardly a quiet way to spend an evening.

The United States has been friends with Pakistan, whose President Mohammed Ayub Khan is here talking to President Johnson, and with India, whose Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is coming here in February to talk to Johnson.

They want to get out of the box they got themselves into with their undeclared war over Kashmir in the fall.

Pakistan, thinking the odds are on its side, wants the people of Kashmir to decide in a vote whether they want to be part of Pakistan or India. India, which doesn't like the odds, wants no part of a vote.

If Johnson can settle this dispute, he's a miracle man, but he's not supposed to settle it since the United Nations hopes to. Over the years the United States has given India and Pakistan over $10 billion in aid.

At first it gave military aid to Pakistan, which built up its army, and thus was a kind of buffer to the ambitions of Red China. India, playing lofty and neutralist, didn't pay so much attention to arms.

Then the Red Chinese attacked India, which then cried for American arms, and got them. But when India and Pakistan began to fight both blamed the United States for arming the other.

The United States shut off aid to both. Pakistani mobs ripped the American flag, attacked U.S. buildings, and Pakistan began cottoning up to the Red Chinese.

But those two good old friends, the Soviet Union and Red China, got into the India-Pakistan act, with Red China blaming the Soviets for helping India while the Russian's criticized China for butting in on Pakistan's side.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was to leave London today to come talk to Johnson about some problems, like how to get U.S. support for an oil embargo against Rhodesia which just left the Commonwealth.

Next week West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is coming to talk to Johnson. While Britain and Germany are economic rivals, the British and the United States want German help in keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organization together.

Right now it's getting a battering from French President Charles de Gaulle who doesn't want Germany to have nuclear arms, although the two countries consider themselves friends, while France builds a nuclear arsenal.

Tuesday at a NATO meeting in Paris the French and German foreign ministers got into an argument over it. But De Gaulle, running for re-election, manages to keep busy in many directions.

By James Marlow

Interviewed on television in his political campaign, De Gaulle criticized the United States Tuesday for becoming an "interventionist power," quarreled with its policy in Viet Nam and declared, "I am not anti-American."

He said this country and France had been friends more than a century, that France would always come to America's aid, and that while America came to the aid of France in two world wars it was a little late.

State May Acquire 1,700-Acre Swamp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A swamp and marshland owned privately and used for biology studies by Kent State University students may become a state wildlife preserve. State Parks Chief Melvin J. Rehholz says his division and the Wildlife Division will ask the Controlling Board for $1 million to buy the 1,700-acre area at Tinker Creek near Aurora, southeast of Cleveland.

Animals tend to eat more when they have company, biologists say. A chicken that has already stuffed itself will start eating again if placed with one that is feeding.

Cincinnati's Double Life Is Revealed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—"I'm lost. Don't know what to do," said a 37-year-old truck driver from Ohio who police say deserted his family in Michigan eight years ago.

Robert R. White, a father of three from Mount Healthy, Ohio, spoke from his jail cell Tuesday.

Police said fingerprints showed White was Maurice Mallion Jr., who disappeared from his home in Willis, Mich., eight years ago, leaving his wife and four children.

"They tell me I'm Mallion. It's undoubtedly true. They have my fingerprints. But if it is,

I'm in a hell of a mess," White said.

Can anyone promise that shopping for Christmas dinner will be fun?

Well, not really! But we at A&P can promise you this:

We can promise that we'll smile and be pleasant and helpful.

We can promise to have our shelves stocked with all the things you'll need.

We can promise that if you place your order for your turkey now, we'll have the best bird you ever roasted ready for you when you want it.

We can promise that no matter what you buy at A&P, it will be everything it should be or it won't cost you a penny.

And we can promise you one other thing...to keep these promises.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

VETERAN EMPLOYEE HONORED — Wayne Koonce, machine shop foreman at General Electric, is congratulated for 25 years with the company. Bestowing the honor is E. G. Grigg, Circleville GE plant manager, during a supervisory dinner meeting. Koonce received a quarter-century award.

GE Honors Koonce for Long Service

Wayne Koonce, machine shop foreman at General Electric's Circleville Lamp plant, has been honored for 25 years service with the company. Presentation of a quarter-century award to Koonce was made by E. G. Grigg, plant manager. The honor was bestowed during a supervisory dinner meeting held at Pickaway Arms.

A native of Dugger, Ind., Koonce began his GE career in 1940 as a general laborer at the Jackson Lamp plant, Jackson, Miss. He assumed his present position at Circleville in January, 1956.

During World War II, Koonce served for two years with the U. S. Marine Corps 3rd Division in the Pacific and was recalled for another year of service during the Korean conflict. He attained the rank of staff sergeant.

KOONCE is a member of the First Baptist Church in Circleville where he serves as church treasurer, superintendent of the Junior Department and Sunday School teacher.

The veteran GE employee is married and has two children. He and his family resides at 1580 Quinby Road.

State Hospital Probe Continues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Has Longview State Hospital's physical treatment of mental patients been abusive?

A full day's hearing on the protested dismissal of an attendant who alleged treatment was brutal produced conflicting testimony, lots of it.

And there's more to come when the State Personnel Board of Review hearing begun Tuesday resumes Jan. 11.

And maybe more yet in the courts.

Meanwhile, Democratic gubernatorial aspirant Harry H. Mellwain has projected his eight-month investigation of the 2,800-patient Cincinnati institution into the statewide limelight.

Mellwain, a state representative and an attorney in Cincinnati, is representing Harold K. Leigh who was fired in October from a $315-a-month attendant's job at Longview.

The hospital, represented at the personnel hearing by Asst. Atty. Gen. William M. Hoiles, contends Leigh was fired for good cause.

Mellwain says Leigh was fired because he provided information for the legislator's investigation into conditions that he and Leigh say included beatings and other cruelties.

The hospital contends it fired Leigh as a psychiatric aide for inefficiency, habitual absenteeism, improper handling of at least one patient, and a 1961 suspension for abusing a patient.

It developed at the hearing that Leigh, by his own declaration, never actually saw any of the beatings he alleged took place.

But he said he saw the patients marked by heel stampings, belt buckle whippings and scaldings.

He testified that he complained to his superiors four times of alleged patient beatings and other mistreatment by attendants but "nothing was ever done."

except sometimes the attendants were transferred to other wards."

And Mellwain introduced into evidence an 18-inch lead pipe that Leigh said he'd found in a drawer in one of the wards.

A witness for Leigh, former attendant Gary Wallace of Cincinnati, testified he saw a 13-year-old boy accused of lying beaten by a 200-pound patient at the instigation of attendant Charles W. Wardlow.

Wallace said Wardlow — who helped get Leigh dismissed tied the boy's left hand to his wrist with a leather cuff used to restrain violent patients and ordered the other patient to strike the youth for some three minutes.

Mellwain said that if Leigh loses this appeal, he will go to the common pleas court. He said he also may sue the hospital on behalf of one of the allegedly mistreated patients.

Holiday Program Slated by School

Students of the Brooks-Yates School, 310 E. Main St., are preparing a Christmas program which is scheduled for 12:15 p. m. Monday.

Guidance for the annual event is under the direction of teachers at the school — Mrs. David Whaley, Mrs. Leora Sayre and Paul Dunkle.

The public is invited to attend the program.

Cosmic ray particles coming mysteriously from outside the solar system have millions of times more energy than a physicist can give similar particles on earth.

Wonderful way to communicate the Christmas spirit

No other gift speaks so well of your thoughtfulness as a bright little STARLITE® phone for someone in your family. It's especially convenient for the bedroom because it has a dial that glows in the dark for easy dialing, and comes in a variety of decorator colors.

We've made the STARLITE phone easy to give, too. Take one home now to put under the tree, and we'll install it right after the holidays.

Another nice thought—spread the spirit of Christmas and New Year's by phoning faraway friends and relatives. And make those calls a day or two ahead of the Holiday, when folks have more time for relaxed conversation.

Circleville Barbell Club Holds First Meet at Fairgrounds

The first official weightlifting meet ever held in Circleville will get under way 1 p. m. Sunday at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

The meet is sanctioned by the Central Ohio Assn. of the AAU.

The three power lifts are to be contested. The first event is the bench press, in which the lifter lies on his back on a bench and is handed the weight of his choice. The bar must be lowered to the chest and pressed to arms length.

The second lift to be contested is the parallel squat. The bar is placed on the lifter's shoulders. He then squats till his thighs are parallel to the floor and recovers.

THE LAST to be contested is the dead lift, sometimes called the king lift. More weight can be used in this category than in any other.

The lift is done by placing both hands on the bar and pulling it to the waist until the back and legs are straight. The total score of the three events determines the winner in each of the weight classes.

Because of the growing interest in lifting, the Circleville barbell club will be divided into two teams. The rules state only one lifter per class can compete for a team.

Lifters to compete from Circleville are:

Phil Grubb, 123 pounds; Tom Cassill, Dean Martin, 132 pounds; Les Cramer, Ed Baker, 148 pounds; John Funk, Bob Timmons, Wayne Glover, 165 pounds; Jerry Cupp, Marvin Dean, Ronnie Rollins, 181 pounds; Mick Tomlinson, Danny Elkins, 198; Scot Higgins, Tim Dye, heavyweights.

Because some younger lifters are well under the 123 pound class, an additional class of 113 pounds has been added. Bill Cook, Jeff Harr and Bill Keane will compete in this class.

LIFTERS from Delaware, Zanesville and Columbus will also be trying for the team trophy. Area officials for the meet are John Harr, Howard Blanchard, Les Cramer and Jack Noel.

Noel is donating the team trophy and will also handle club photography.

Scioto Valley Bowling Service is donating a trophy to the outstanding lifter.

Ribbons will be given to the first three placers in each class. About 30 lifters, ages 11 through 24, are entered.

The lifters will enter one more meet before competing in the State Championships in Youngstown in February.

Rickey Buried Near His Birthplace

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Branch Rickey's mortal remains lie at rest today not far from where the baseball immortal was born 83 years ago.

Perhaps 200 mourners attended graveside rites Tuesday at the little Rush Township Cemetery north of here, a few miles from Rickey's native Stockdale area around the Scioto-Pike County line.

The Rev. Wesley H. Hager of St. Louis delivered the final eulogy at the Rickey family plot. Listening were the widow and other relatives, several prominent baseball people, public officials and old friends from Ohio Wesleyan University and this area.

The Harlem Globetrotters basketball team and old Leroy (Satchel) Paige, the famed Negro baseball hurler, paid their respects to the man who opened the major leagues to a stream of Negro talent when he signed Jackie Robinson for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"There are very few really great men, but he was one of them in mind, and heart and soul and spirit," eulogized the Methodist minister.

Rickey died Dec. 9 in Columbia, Mo.

His long career in baseball, especially as an executive after a playing and managing career, probably figured more than any other man's in making the game what it is today.

Duke Rockets Into Top U.S. Cage Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Duke's Blue Devils soared to the top of The Associated Press' major - college basketball poll today, replacing UCLA, the team they beat twice in two nights last week. The West Coast Bruins fell to eighth place.

The Blue Devils, with a 5-1 record including Tuesday night's 102-67 conquest of Furman, advanced from sixth position. They collected 17 first-place votes and 357 points in the balloting by a special regional panel of 43 sports writers and sportscasters. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

The voting was based on games through Monday night.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, won-loss records through Tuesday's games and total points:

1. Duke (17) 5-1	357
2. St. Joseph's, Pa. (14) 4-0	323
3. Michigan (3) 4-1	260
4. Kansas (4) 5-0	253
5. Vanderbilt (5) 4-0	243
6. Minnesota 3-0	137
7. Providence 3-0	134
8. UCLA 2-2	132

6 Bills Win All-Star Rank

Buffalo Sparks '65 Selection

NEW YORK (AP)—The Buffalo Bills, defending champions in the American Football League, placed six men on the 1965 All-Star team selected for The Associated Press by a 24-man panel, three from each league city.

The Bills, who clinched the Eastern Division title early and have had time to prepare for a rematch with San Diego, put quarterback Jack Kemp and guard Billy Shaw on the offensive unit and tackle Tom Sestak, linebacker Mike Stratton, corner back Butch Byrd and safety George Saimes on the defensive club.

San Diego was represented with five men, including Lance Alworth, a unanimous choice at flanker back, running back Paul Lowe and tackle Ron Mix on offense, plus end Earl Faison and tackle Ernie Ladd of the fearsome defensive unit.

Kansas City had four on the team with Jim Tyrer at offensive tackle, Jerry Mays at defensive end, linebacker Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Nick Buoniconti, Boston's lone representative, received all 24 votes for middle linebacker. Oakland had center Jim Otto on offense and corner back Dave Grayson on defense.

Houston and Denver each had two men on the offensive team. The Oilers' Tillie Frazier was the tight end and Bob Talamini, a superior pass blocker, was at guard. Lionel Taylor, Denver's split end beat out Oakland's Art Powell for the split end job and Cookie Gilchrist, who moved from Buffalo to Denver during the off season, repeated at fullback.

Of the 22 men on the first team, 12 were repeaters. He 1964 team included Alworth, Shaw, Mix, Gilchrist and Otto on offense and Ladd, Faison, Sestak, Buoniconti, Stratton, Saimes and Grayson on defense.

3 County Cage Teams Play Six Tilts This Week

All three Pickaway County High School basketball teams have doubleheaders scheduled this weekend.

Teays Valley is at Walnut Ridge Friday and hosts Bishop Hartley on Saturday. Westfall plays at Paint Valley Friday and hosts Huntington Saturday.

Logan Elm travels to Hamilton Twp. Friday and entertains Amanda - Clearcreek on Saturday.

The Russ Gregg coached Vikings, playing the toughest schedule ever, will be seeking their first win of the season.

THE TV squad lot to Columbus Central, South and West, as well as to Westfall. All have been comparatively close games.

The TV cagers have a balanced attack, with all five players averaging 10 or more points per game this season.

Butch Kinsell, a guard, is leading scorer for the young TV squad with 56 markers in four games. His 22 points against Columbus South was the season high for Teays Valley.

Gerald Green, the only returning starter from last year's squad, has 47 points. Junior center Rod Teets has 49.

Gary Wilson has scored 42 points and Gayle Fosnaugh 41. Westfall, after losing the first game of the season, has rolled to three straight wins. The Mustangs will be going after their first Scioto Valley Conference victory Friday at Paint Valley.

On Saturday they play Huntington, tabbed one of the better Ross County League teams this year.

FOR THE Mustangs of Larry Wilson, Neil Coleman has 74 points in four games. His high effort of 29 was against Teays Valley.

Tom Hamman has scored 64 points. Although he and Coleman are the only players on the Westfall team to average better than 10 points per tilt, there are at least four others who have proven themselves capable of scoring well.

Tom Beard, slowed by illness this past weekend, tallied 20 points against TV. Brad Thompson had 16 against Logan Elm, Tom Scribner 11 against Southeastern and Ray Mowery 13 against Jonathan Alder.

Keith Merrin's Logan Elm Braves will be seeking wins number four and five this weekend. After winning their first three games, they lost to Westfall.

Hamilton Twp. is winless while Amanda - Clearcreek has one win in their credit.

Russ Merrin has been the most consistent scorer. He has 63 points in four games.

DON SCHALL has tallied 47 markers, Tom Smith 29 and Darryl Reichelderfer 28.

Jim Moorehead, who started in games against Carroll and New Lexington St. Aloisius, injured a knee and has not dressed for the last two contests. However, he is expected to be ready for Friday's test at Hamilton.

Other area high school games this weekend find Laurelville hosting Zaleski Friday and playing at Unioto Saturday. Zane Trace plays at Southeastern Friday. The Plains of Mt. Sterling plays at Southeastern.

Hurling Staffs Balanced in Youth Loop

In a move to insure a pitcher for each team in the Teays Valley Youth Baseball League, board members have initiated action to separate pitchers as they register this year.

A motion introduced to keep the same teams as last year was defeated. The league reversed a previous decision and agreed to award trophies to winning teams in the Little League, Mosquito League and to Walnut and Ashville girls softball teams.

However, a motion was passed not to award any trophies or medals for the 1966 season.

Officers elected for the coming season were:

Marvin Hicks, president; Glenn Clay, vice president; George Forquer, secretary; Margaret Hicks, treasurer.

PAT MANZI was elected to a three - year term on the board and Bill Glitt to a one-year term.

Action was taken to increase the registration fee for the 1966 season to $3. The previous fee of $2.50 did not cover the cost of insurance and caps for each player with the exception of the Mosquito League.

The next meeting has been scheduled for Jan. 13 at the Ashville Council House. Men and women managers are needed by the organization, according to Forquer.

The California Angels played 63 night games in Dodger Stadium last season, top figure in the American League.

Dick Redman, secretary, has announced there is a shortage of game for the banquet. He urged all members of the organization who have bagged wild game recently to take it to the Circleville Fire Department.

Awards will be presented to the top marksmen of the summer after the banquet.

4-Victory UofC Cagers Face Tough Weekend Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preseason prognosticators put Cincinnati's basketball Bearcats near the bottom of the Missouri Valley Conference's power-laden pack, but it may be reappraisal time.

And after this weekend, it will be re-appraisal time.

Cincy leaped its first high hurdle with a 67-64 triumph at Colorado Tuesday night, building its record to four nonconference victories in as many games.

The rest of the Bearcat western swing, at Southern California Friday and UCLA Saturday, will put the team's prospects in pretty good focus.

The likes of Bradley, St. Louis Louisville, Tulsa, etc. could scramble said prospects once MVC competition opens. But meanwhile, the Bearcats bask in a 4-0 record that ties them with Dayton for best among Ohio major colleges.

Cincinnati held a 62-55 lead over Colorado but the Buffaloes caught up and it took three free throws by Gene Foster in the last 31 seconds to put Cincy over the top. Foster also starred as a playmaker, helping Don Rolles score 15 and Mike Rolf 14 points in dealing the Buffs (3-2) their first home setback.

In other Ohio basketball Tuesday night, Toledo set a school record of 47 field goals in smothering Northern Illinois 110 - 88 while Bluffton boosted its ledger to 5-0 by beating Indiana Tech 104-88.

Wittenberg defeated Muskingum 63-45 in the Ohio Conference, Defiance nipped Cedarville 85-83 in the Mid-Ohio, Steubenville clipped Alliance (Pa.) 93-72, and Ohio Northern lost the title game of the Troy (Ala.) Tournament to host Troy 70-59.

Bill Backensto scored 31 points and Bob Aston 21 for Toledo Lynn Martin 33 and Mark Froning 26 for Bluffton; freshman Dan Erhune 28 for Defiance; and Wittenberg made 23 of 25 foul shots in lifting its OC record to 3-1.

Buster Brannon, who scouted Arkansas for Texas Christian University, says "this is the best Arkansas football team that ever played in the Southwest Conference."

Rickey Buried Near His Birthplace

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Branch Rickey's mortal remains lie at rest today not far from where the baseball immortal was born 83 years ago.

Perhaps 200 mourners attended graveside rites Tuesday at the little Rush Township Cemetery north of here, a few miles from Rickey's native Stockdale area around the Scioto-Pike County line.

The Rev. Wesley H. Hager of St. Louis delivered the final eulogy at the Rickey family plot. Listening were the widow and other relatives, several prominent baseball people, public officials and old friends from Ohio Wesleyan University and this area.

The Harlem Globetrotters basketball team and old Leroy (Satchel) Paige, the famed Negro baseball hurler, paid their respects to the man who opened the major leagues to a stream of Negro talent when he signed Jackie Robinson for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"There are very few really great men, but he was one of them in mind, and heart and soul and spirit," eulogized the Methodist minister.

Rickey died Dec. 9 in Columbia, Mo.

His long career in baseball, especially as an executive after a playing and managing career, probably figured more than any other man's in making the game what it is today.

Rhodes To Campaign for Paul Brown

CINCINNATI (AP) — It looks as though professional football — or at least a new sports stadium — is on the way for Cincinnati as the result of a whirlwind visit by Gov. James A. Rhodes and Paul Brown, former coach of the Cleveland Browns' football team.

Both men spoke Tuesday to an assembly of local notables. Brown said he is seeking a National Football League franchise for Cincinnati and Rhodes declared he would back the famed coach's efforts to the utmost.

"I will visit every owner of the NFL in behalf of Cincinnati. And I will go to the NFL meeting Feb. 14 and urge the league to put the franchise in Cincinnati and award it to Paul Brown," the governor said.

The NFL is scheduled to meet Feb. 14 to decide the awarding of its 16th franchise. At least 10 cities are vying for the team, which will start play in 1967.

As Rhodes and Brown prepared to leave, a steering committee of the greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce asked a consulting firm to pick the stadium site within 48 hours.

Both the football team and the Cincinnati Reds would share the new stadium.

The 60,000 seat stadium would cost about $20 million and the steering committee suggested that the Hamilton County Commissioners could adopt a .3 mill tax levy to pay for its construction.

Available facilities are expected to play a big part in the NFL's decision and a committee spokesman said it would take too long to submit a bond issue to the voters.

The Reds now play in Crosley Field, which seats 28,000. The ballpark was opened in 1912 and has been frequently described as outmoded. Bill DeWitt, owner of the Reds, said Tuesday any Cincinnati pro football team could use Crosley Field until the new stadium is built.

"There is much competition for the 16th team, but I've been encouraged and I personally think you are in a better position than you realize," Brown told the 125 civic and business leaders who had been invited to a luncheon by Rhodes.

Rhodes said Cincinnati is the best site for the new team.

"Within a 150-mile radius

there are 10 million people," the governor said. "No other competitor can say this. The purchasing power is $2.2 billion."

Other cities competing for the franchise include New Orleans, Boston; Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Wash.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Memphis, Tenn.; Houston, Tex., and Toronto and Montreal in Canada. Atlanta recently received the 15th franchise and its team begins play next fall.

Brown has been inactive in pro football since Jan. 9, 1963, when he was fired as coach and general manager of the Browns. He still draws a salary from the club, but said he would terminate his contract if Cincinnati gets the NFL franchise.

Brown identified only three of his associates in the group seeking the franchise—his son Michael, John Sawyer of London, Ohio, son of former Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati; and Dr. William Hackett, a London veterinarian and former Ohio State football star.

Long-Distance Recruiting Helps Duke '5'

Non-Local Cagers Lead Devils to Winning Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Your drawl doesn't have to be perfect for you to play in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Geographical hop scotch, a favorite recruiting tactic for many schools in ACC, paid off in a major upset for Frank McGuire at South Carolina last week and now has Vic Bubas' Duke Blue Devils on top of the collegiate basketball heap.

McGuire's imports beat Bubas' refugees a week ago but Duke has spun off three straight victories since, two against defending national champion UCLA, and is ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll today.

Furman was the latest victim of the passport policy Tuesday night, bowing to the Blue Devils 102-67 at Durham, N.C.

Duke's Bob Verga, who comes from Sea Girt, N.J. — 360 miles from Durham — pumped 25 points and Jack Marin, who grew up in Farrell, Pa. — about 350 miles from Durham — had 20.

Two more well-traveled Blue Devils, Steve Vacendak and Mike Lewis, pitched in to help Verga and Marin. Vacendak, who's from Scranton, Pa., had 12 points, and Lewis, a sophomore who is Duke's mileage champ — he's from Missoula, Mont., added 11.

Ninth-ranked Bradley, only other team in the Top Ten to play Tuesday night, nearly blew a 14-point lead but hung on to whip Missouri Valley Conference foe St. Louis 68-63.

The Braves led 43-29 at the half but a 10-minute cold spell that produced just five points cut the lead to two points.

Joe Allen and Eddie Jackson hit a pair of quick baskets that pulled Bradley out. Tom Campbell with 24 and Allen with 19 led the Braves, who won their sixth straight. St. Louis is 4-1.

Bill Backensto scored 31 points as Toledo broke a school record with 47 field goals and ripped Northern Illinois 110-83. The Rockets went 47-for-76 from the floor for a brilliant .594 shooting percentage.

Southern Methodist scored the upset of the night, knocking off previously unbeaten Oklahoma City 92-81. SMU had won five straight and beaten the Mustangs 97-90 in an earlier meeting. Carroll Hooser led the winners with 23.

Dub Malaise played only 28 minutes but fired 33 points as Texas Tech downed Oklahoma 100-92. The Red Raiders ran up a 61-point first half that tied a school record for one period. Malaise had 13 for 18 from the floor and 7-for-7 from the foul line.

Cincinnati's Gene Foster sank three free throws in the last 31 seconds as the Bearcats won their fourth straight, downing Colorado, 67-64. The Buffaloes had rallied with seven straight points to tie the score before Foster's free throws gave Cincinnati the victory.

Long-Distance Recruiting Helps Duke '5'

Non-Local Cagers Lead Devils to Winning Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Your drawl doesn't have to be perfect for you to play in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Geographical hop scotch, a favorite recruiting tactic for many schools in ACC, paid off in a major upset for Frank McGuire at South Carolina last week and now has Vic Bubas' Duke Blue Devils on top of the collegiate basketball heap.

McGuire's imports beat Bubas' refugees a week ago but Duke has spun off three straight victories since, two against defending national champion UCLA, and is ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll today.

Furman was the latest victim of the passport policy Tuesday night, bowing to the Blue Devils 102-67 at Durham, N.C.

Duke's Bob Verga, who comes from Sea Girt, N.J. — 360 miles from Durham — pumped 25 points and Jack Martin, who grew up in Farrell, Pa. — about 350 miles from Durham — had 20.

Two more well-traveled Blue Devils, Steve Vacendak and Mike Lewis, pitched in to help Verga and Martin. Vacendak, who's from Scranton, Pa., had 12 points, and Lewis, a sophomore who is Duke's mileage champ — he's from Missoula, Mont., added 11.

Ninth-ranked Bradley, only other team in the Top Ten to play Tuesday night, nearly blew a 14-point lead but hung on to whip Missouri Valley Conference foe St. Louis 68-63.

The Braves led 43-29 at the half but a 10-minute cold spell that produced just five points out the lead to two points.

Joe Allen and Eddie Jackson hit a pair of quick baskets that pulled Bradley out. Tom Campbell with 24 and Allen with 19 led the Braves, who won their sixth straight. St. Louis is 4-1.

Bill Backenstoe scored 31 points as Toledo broke a school record with 47 field goals and ripped Northern Illinois 110-83. The Rockets went 47-for-76 from the floor for a brilliant .594 shooting percentage.

Southern Methodist scored the upset of the night, knocking off previously unbeaten Oklahoma City 92-81. SMU had won five straight and beaten the Mustangs 97-90 in an earlier meeting. Carroll Hooser led the winners with 23.

Dub Malaise played only 28 minutes but fired 33 points as Texas Tech downed Oklahoma 100-92. The Red Raiders ran up a 61-point first half that tied a school record for one period. Malaise had 13 for 18 from the floor and 7-for-7 from the foul line.

Cincinnati's Gene Foster sank three free throws in the last 31 seconds as the Bearcats won their fourth straight, downing Colorado, 67-64. The Buffaloes had rallied with seven straight points to tie the score before Foster's free throws gave Cincinnati the victory.

City Science Fair On Doubtful List

The Science Fair, conducted the past few years in Circleville Schools, may be cancelled as a public display this year.

The City Board of Education plans to conduct a survey of teachers' opinions concerning the event. It is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Superintendent Fritz Jacobs recommended that the Science Fair be curtailed for at least this school year. But he suggested that teachers encourage students to develop projects for entering into district competition.

Jacobs said the event has been too confined to the field of science, adding that many students are entering the same projects year after year.

HE ALSO noted that entries are decreasing each year. He felt that a year's interim would mean a "fresher and better" fair the following year.

The superintendent's proposal met with some opposition. E. G. Grigg, board member, voiced his opinion and noted the "Science Fair" should be expanded instead of cut down.

Jacobs and other members agreed with Grigg to a point. The superintendent said a similar event should be expanded, but "we should display all of our wares." Other areas of instruction should be included in the public display, he asserted.

After much discussion, the Small Gifts Are OK for Your Postman

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's all right to give your postman a handkerchief, some cookies or such for Christmas in appreciation of those trudges through rain, sleet and snow to your mailbox.

A postal official said today that the department has no position regarding token gifts of appreciation—within reason.

"But we have very, very strict regulations — under no circumstances can the letter carriers solicit anything," he said.

A check around the capital showed the government has "hound's tooth clean" regulations about gifts to any federal employee from anybody having business or seeking business with the government.

The rules pretty well eliminate anything from a business firm except calendars or pencils with the firm's name on them.

The word appears to have gotten around.

"We used to receive quite a few gifts, but after the new regulations came out, it stopped; it just stopped," one Pentagon worker told a reporter.

Eight-Pound Reason

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Norma Jean Knight had an eight-pound alibi when she appeared in court to answer a traffic ticket.

Mrs. Knight, 18, was charged with sideswiping a car.

"The pains kept getting worse every block," she said. "I put on my lights, sped up and started honking the horn."

Then came the accident. She wasn't hurt, but was sped to a hospital where her eight-pound baby girl was born.

issue was tabled until opinions from teachers and other persons are recorded. The board did agree that the Science Fair as conducted the past couple of years was "stereo-typed."

In other action, the school officials authorized the acquisition of gymnasium equipment for the new high school. Most of the purchase order was for wrestling and tumbling mats. Gear already on hand will remain in the present gym for junior high usage.

Permission was also granted to employ Dr. E. B. Sessions, of Ohio State University to conduct an extensive survey of each building within the district. The purpose is to determine custodial needs and recommend time schedules for cleaning of each room and special areas.

JACOBS pointed out that OSU allows for the services of Dr. Sessions, but the school board would have to pay for his expenses. In authorizing the survey, the board set a limit of $100 on the expense account.

The resignation of Robert L. Liston Jr., effective Dec. 31, as school bus driver was accepted. Noble Barr, substitute driver, was appointed full-time to fill the vacancy.

Permission was also granted to the superintendent to secure a speaker for the commencement program on June 2, 1966.

The board okayed payment of $200 for next year's membership in the Ohio School Boards Assn. Requests for attendance at professional meetings were granted to Truman Eberly, and Paul Dunkle, Ohio Music Educators Assn., on Jan. 7 and 8; Stanley Spring, Safety Committee for Industrial Arts Teachers in Ohio, Dec. 17.

Musical Program Scheduled Sunday

A solo, quartet performance of Part I of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, 129 W. Mound St.

Members of the ensemble are: Lois Wittich, soprano; Linda Litter, contralto; Paul Dunkle, tenor; Ralph Amey, bass. They will be accompanied by Katherine S. Huber, organist.

In addition to the solos from the Advent and Christmas portion of the "Messiah", the quartet will also include the choruses, "And the Glory of the Lord", "And He Shall Purify", "For Unto Us a Child is Born", "Glory to God," and "His Yoke Is Easy."

Following the performance there will be a coffee hour in the parish house. The public is invited to attend.
